

ADVOCATES ABOLITION OF FEDERAL JUDICIAL
SYSTEM—SCORES TAFTSenator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, Censures Chief Justice Taft for Social Activities and Urges That Powers Be Given State Courts.

Washington, April 7.—Censuring William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States supreme court for his social activities among the "idle rich," Senator George W. Norris, Republican, Nebraska, today advocated the abolition of the federal judicial system and conferring of federal jurisdiction on existing state courts.

Norris declared that "no judge can stick his legs under the table of the idle rich every night, and be fit the next day to sit in judgment upon those who toil." The Nebraska senator added that "annual pilgrimages to Washington by federal circuit judges, as provided in the Cummins bill would further weaken the judicial system."

"There is something fundamentally wrong with our judicial system," Norris said, "I have reached the conclusion, from my own experience that the life tenure of office is not good for the people. While in theory, the judge appointed for life is removed from temptation and has nothing but the straight and narrow path to follow, in fact, he often occurs, but too often it means the security of a life salary and a life position, makes our judges indifferent and makes some of them forget the common people."

Norris called attention to the provision in the Cummins bill under which the senior circuit judges would be brought, once a year to Washington for conference with Chief Justice Taft and the attorney general.

"What will these judges do?" Norris asked, "They will meet the chief justice and will be dined every evening. They will be run to death with social activities. They will be killed with social favoritism before getting down to business, especially as it affects the genial chief justice who dines somewhere every night."

"There will come a time, if this is continued when dinners will not be as fashionable or as enticing and when people here in the capital will not be dining out in high social fashion every night."

Then, though they go to social and friendly dinners, you will find women there who wear dresses that come clear over their shoulders and extend downward below their knees. When that times comes, even William H. Taft, would not accept an invitation to that kind of dinner.

"No man will be injured and no interest will be hurt by abolishment of the U. S. Court and conferring of federal jurisdiction on the state courts."

CHAOS IN IRELAND NOW BEYOND
DESCRIPTION DECLARES REPORTMichael Collins, Besieged in Dublin, is Helpless and Has Few Supporters, Dispatch Avers—Border
Trouble Grows More Acute.

London, April 7.—"The chaos in Ireland is beyond anything the public can imagine," said a Dublin dispatch to the Morning Post today. "Michael Collins is helpless and has few supporters. In fact he is besieged in Dublin. It is anticipated that a republic will be proclaimed in Ireland within the next few weeks."

The border trouble in Fermanagh county (a frontier county) is continually growing more acute, said a dispatch from Inniskillen. In the district of Belcoo armed republicans and orangemen have entrenched themselves behind barricades of sand bags and fallen trees. The "armies" are separated only by a thirty foot bridge and news of a battle is expected hourly.

The military defences of Ulster are being strengthened. In some quarters, fears are openly expressed that the Irish provisional government at Dublin will be overturned and that the republicans will then formally declare war on Ulster.

NOTED AVIATOR'S
DEATH IS PROBED

Newark, O., April 7.—Ralph Glass, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Glass, stumbled and fell head first into a post hole, in the bottom of which was about four inches of water, and was drowned early today on their farm west of the city. The child's body was wedged so tightly in the hole that it required considerable effort to get it out.

Tie Up With Local And National News
In Advertising

Just recently Frank Brothers of Waterloo, Iowa, clothing merchants, were robbed of about $1,500 worth of merchandise.

Naturally the local newspaper covered the story in a big way and Frank Bros. saw and grasped the idea of "tying-up" their advertising with the news story. They were successful in securing a position for their advertising on the same page with the news story, and it is needless to say, almost, that unusual reader interest and remarkable sales were the logical result.

And such an incident but further tends to show that this "tying-up" with local and national events will, in most cases, prove exceptionally profitable in an advertising way.

TWO GIRLS, CLAIMING SAME HUSBAND,
DECLARE MILLIONAIRE FORSOOK THEM

Joseph Donald Grafton, son of a Pittsburgh, Pa., millionaire, is charged by two women with having married and deserted them both within three weeks. Peggy Davis, seventeen-year-old "Follies" girl, critically ill in a New York hospital claims that Grafton married her on December 10, 1921. Ellen Curley McIntyre, of Youngstown, Ohio, asserts that she was wedded to Grafton, three weeks prior to that date. The young millionaire alleged to have forsaken both girls, is being sought by police.

HONEYMOON COUPLES BOTHERED
BY ARRIVAL OF THE RUSSIANSSwarms of Detectives Crowd Corridors and Gardens of Hotel at Genoa—No New Guests Will Be Received By Management.

Genoa, April 7.—The arrival of the soviet Russian delegation to the international economic conference has played havoc with the love making of American and British honeymoon couples and spooners at the exclusive hotel Imperial Santa Margherita where the Russians are quartered.

Swarms of plain clothes detectives armed with search lights, crowd the corridors and semi-tropical palm garden of the hotel. Ardent wooers interrupted in secluded seats in the lobbies flocked into the palm garden only to be interrupted in their sylvan retreat, by prying detectives who were kept busy by apologizing for their intrusions and explaining that they were under orders to search every nook and cranny for suspicious persons who might have designs upon the lives of the bolshevist envoys.

The Italian government has forbidden the hotel from accepting any new guests while the Russians are quartered there, although the old registered guests may remain.

Many indignant couples, angered by the lack of privacy, have already packed up their belongings and departed, notwithstanding the fact that the Russians have been quartered only 24 hours.

At tea time, the jazz band plays to an almost empty dining room. A number of the male members of the Russian delegation and four women secretaries danced amidst the empty tables. The women were mannishly dressed, and their hair was cut short with the clippers after the fashion of men.

George Tchitcherine, head of the Russian delegation, seemed tired and worn after the trip from Moscow. His 32-year-old secretary Michael Erlich was flustered and excited over the appearance of a number of press photographers. He complained that the guards were not strict enough.

Civilian And Military
Take Sides In Beck CaseResidents of Oklahoma City, United, Are Fighting for Honor of a Woman's Name, Mrs. Jean P. Day, While Army Seeks to Absolve Slain Man.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 7.—This is the tale of two cities.

One Oklahoma City: its Stetsoned plainmen—united almost to the man—armed with the "unwritten code"—is fighting for the honor of a woman's name—Mrs. Jean P. Day.

The other—Lawton, with its army post—is beating back to keep dishonor from the uniform of its first son—Lieut. Colonel Paul Ward Beck.

Meanwhile the triple investigation—army, state and prohibition forces—continued along trails which lead to the killing of Colonel Beck by Jean P. Day, former supreme court justice and millionaire oil man, in Day's home in the small hours of Tuesday morning.

State authorities sought to keep their findings secret until the coroner's inquest, set for tomorrow. The army was less secretive about its course.

Headed by Major Lampher, senior officer of the military court, eight airplanes carrying Captains Vernon L. Burge and Roger McCollough, Major R. B. Paddock, relative of General J. J. Pershing, and Beck's companion on the night of the tragedy; Lieut. John W. Beck, nephew of the slain man, Lieut. Kenneth Walker and others will proceed from Post field near Lawton to Oklahoma City tomorrow morning.

The military men will attend the inquest, as witnesses.

"And when the whole truth comes out, Beck's name will be cleared of the dishonor now placed upon him," Major Paddock said today.

Judge Day and his wife are to be the witnesses for the defense.

Forest L. Hughes, prosecutor, remained behind locked doors today seeking to unite the tangle threads of evidence contradicting Day's story of the tragedy.

HEAVY SNOW GRIPS
WEST; FUEL IS SHORT

Sheridan, Wyo., April 7.—Possibility of suffering due to lack of coal was declared imminent here with the heaviest snowfall in progress which ever has occurred during April.

At noon yesterday the snow had reached a depth of eight inches, with no indication of abatement. Sheridan has depended on the output of wagon mines for its coal since union miners suspended work last Friday, but the snow today has blocked the roads so that no coal is being delivered.

Casper, Wyo., April 7.—The heaviest snowstorm of the winter was in progress in central Wyoming early today. The equivalent of an inch and a half of water fell in rain and snow yesterday and snow lay at a depth of about one foot today with heavy fall continuing.

HOPE FOR EARLY SETTLEMENT OF NATIONAL COAL STRIKE REVIVEDMiss Stone Acquitted of Killing Ellis KinkeadFreed by Jury Thursday Night, Defendant Announces
She Will Devote Rest of Life to "Service of Humanity"—Crowds Cheer as Verdict Given.

New York, April 7.—Freed by a jury of twelve "good men and true," of the charge of killing Ellis Guy Kinkead, former corporation counsel of Cincinnati, Ohio, Olivia M. P. Stone declared today she would devote the remainder of her life to the "service of humanity," in her chosen profession—nursing.

"No one, more than I, who have faced death and all manner of suffering will feel more keenly the deep pleasure of service and freedom," she said, "I can hardly breathe for my great happiness."

Expecting to be reinstated in the graduate nurse association Miss Stone, plans to return to Cincinnati and enter the Cincinnati general hospital.

The usual quiet of the supreme court chamber maintained through the nine weary days of the trial, could not be kept when the jury's verdict was announced last night.

"Not guilty, your—" was as far as the foreman of the jury could go when he was stopped by tumultuous shouting. The cry was taken up by the huge crowd outside the courtroom and reverberated through the whole building.

Miss Stone, at first was motionless. Then she sprang up, kissed her attorney, Edward J. Kelly and grasped the hands of well wishers who surged forward.

When order had been restored, Justice Aspinwall officially proclaimed the woman free.

Crowds of men and women surged about her and cheered and clapped as she threw kisses at them while withdrawing from the court house with a jail matron with whom she had become friendly.

Last night for the first time since she was locked up in jail last August 5, Miss Stone slept in a "real bed in a real room with real comforts."

Cincinnati, April 7.—Although acquitted of the murder of Ellis G. Kinkead in New York last night, there is not the slightest chance of Olivia M. P. Stone being restored to membership in the Ohio Graduate Nurses Association and therefore she will not be able to practice her profession as a nurse in any Cincinnati hospital. This prediction was made Friday following announcement of Miss Stone that she intended to return to Cincinnati and "in work forget the past."

Officers of the organization declared today that Miss Stone could not be restored.

HARDING TARGET OF BITTER ATTACKS
IN SENATE FRIDAY

Washington, April 7.—Democratic senators made President Harding the target of bitter partisan attacks in the senate today when they renewed their charges that he was personally responsible for alleged infractions of civil service regulations in sweeping Democrats out of office and replacing them with Republicans.

Caustic criticisms of the president by Senators Harrison, Mississippi; Stanley of Kentucky and Caraway of Arkansas, took the form of personal denunciation of him and of "Republican spoilsmen."

Harrison charged that there was a "diabolical plot and conspiracy to withhold from the American people the reasons for the setting aside of civil service regulations that Democrats might be thrown out of offices and Republicans given jobs."

GOVERNOR OFFERS
AID TO CANDIDATE

Columbus, April 7.—Declaring that his decision as to which of the republican gubernatorial candidates he will support will "depend entirely upon the attitude of the different aspirants with respect to the reorganization plan, (The Dunn act providing for reorganization of state departments) and the emergency under which it was enacted," Governor Davis has issued a statement announcing that if a candidate is nominated who heartily endorses both the plan and the emergency clause, the governor will campaign for him as much as he can without neglecting the duties of his office.

WILL RESTORE TREATY.

Washington, April 7.—Establishment of a mixed claims committee to settle the damage claims of both German and American citizens arising out of the war will rest upon a treaty to be made with Germany, it was said today at the state department. Negotiations have been under way for some weeks.

WAY UNBLOCKED
FOR OPERATORS
TO MEET UNIONDaugherty's Assurance
Participants Will Not be Prosecuted Hopeful

RENEW EFFORTS

Large Number of Non-Union Miners Reported to Have Joined Strike

Washington, April 7.—Remedy for the strike diseased coal industry lies in the creation of a temporary federal commission, from which should result a permanent fact-finding commission, with supervisory powers over the industry, John Brophy, one of the miners' leaders, testified today before the house labor committee.

Washington, April 7.—Heartened by Attorney General Daugherty's assurance that participants in any joint conference designed to fix a new wage and end the coal strike would not be prosecuted, the house labor committee today renewed its efforts to bring together operators and striking miners.

Back of Daugherty's statement, coupled with the publicly announced willingness of the operators to negotiate separate state or district wage agreements, Chairman Nolan sees hope of ultimately securing assent of the operators to meet in general, rather than group conferences.

Every effort is being bent in that direction although word from individual operators reaching here indicates it will be futile.

A defense, of the bituminous coal operators' position in refusing to negotiate a central agreement with the miners' union was given by T. H. Watkins, a spokesman for Pennsylvania producers, before the house labor committee yesterday in its investigation of the coal strike, and at the same time an intimation was given by Attorney General Daugherty, through a letter from him, which was read into the record that the mine owners would face no prosecution under anti-trust laws if they again saw fit to fix national wages in the industry by such an agreement.

New York, April 7.—President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, declared today he is delighted over reports showing that large numbers of non-union miners in both the bituminous and anthracite fields have joined the coal strike. He described the situation as "unprecedented in American labor."

ISSUE INVITATIONS TO PUBLIC MEETING
OF WATERWAYS BODYAll Sections of State to Be Represented in Columbus April 21.

Columbus, April 7.—At a meeting here of the Ohio Waterways Commission it was decided to invite mayors, county commissioners, commercial and farm organizations and luncheon clubs from all sections of the state to attend a public meeting at the hotel Desler here April 21.

Plans have been made to have former Governor W. L. Harding, U. S. Congressman W. W. Chalmers and Charles P. Craig, executive director of the Great Lakes—St. Lawrence tide water association, address the meeting.

The commission organized by selecting W. E. Griffith, Toledo, chairman and F. E. Vanslyke, Columbus, secretary. Other members are William T. Rossiter and A. L. Brown, of Cleveland and Rep. H. D. Silver, Preble County. The purpose of the commission is to afford publicity relative to "the needs and benefits" of the St. Lawrence river improvement.

GALLI-CURCI, FAMOUS OPERA SINGER ROBBED OF JEWELS
VALUED AT $45,000 IN CALIFORNIA CAFE; SEEK TWO WOMEN

Annetta Galli-Curci.

San Juan, Capistrano, Calif., April 7.—Madame Galli-Curci, opera singer, was robbed here yesterday of jewels and valuables which she said were worth $45,000 when two girls fled with a jewel case which had been left by the singer's maid in a cafe rest room. The singer and her party had stopped here for lunch.

The singer, her husband Homer Samuels, and the maid departed, and the maid departed at once for Los Angeles to aid in the search for the girls, after first telephoning the facts to officials there and at San Diego.

According to Mr. Samuels, he Madame Galli-Curci and the latter's maid, Mrs. Mae Hendrickson, were traveling by motor between Los Angeles and San Diego and stopped here for lunch. The jewels were entrusted to the maid. She stepped into a rest room in a cafe here, she said, laid the jewel case down for a moment, and then, realizing, what she had done, returned to get it. It was gone.

Mrs. Hendrickson said there were two young women in the rest room, both blondes and one tall and wearing a light coat. She had no other description.

FAIRIES HOVER OVER COUNTRY ESTATE OF MRS SCOTT
DURAND; AT LEAST THAT IS WHAT OWNER DECLARES

Chicago, April 7.—The farm hands do the work on Crabtree farm, the country estate of Mrs. Scott Durand, but it is the fairies, or "land spirits" who really run the place and who "keep the water pure and clean and make things grow."

Moreover, Mrs. Durand consults the fairies when she is in trouble and "they make things right."

Mrs. Durand told of the fairies in an address before the Chicago Physical research society. Incidentally she revealed that until about a year ago Joan of Arc used to visit her daily and read the morning newspaper before it was brought to the Durand breakfast table. She did not reveal why Joan comes no longer.

"These land spirits are the dearest things I have ever seen," Mrs. Durand said. "To show how real and important they are to me, I had gourd vines planted over the side of my cottage because they have thick stems and make a place for the spirits to sit."

"These little nature spirits are all good and are dressed very beautifully. I command them just as I do the help on my farm and they do my bidding. Yesterday they were flitting everywhere. I not only see them but I can feel them."

Just now Mrs. Durand is staying at a Chicago hotel leaving the fairies to care for her farm, which is one of the noted country estates in this section.

JOSEPH DICKMAN OF YELLOW SPRINGS DROPS DEAD AT WORK

While working on his farm near Yellow Springs, Joseph Dickman, 59, life long resident of the vicinity, died suddenly Thursday evening about five o'clock. Mr. Dickman's death was due to heart trouble, and occurred when he was working in the barn lot with his two sons, Elden and Ralph Dickman.

Mr. Dickman was born in Yellow Springs, May 1, 1863, and was a well known farmer of the village. For the past two years he has been retired and resided in the village of Yellow Springs.

He is survived by his widow, and the following children: Elden and Ralph, of near Yellow Springs, Leora Dickman, at home, and Mrs. Schnatz, wife of the Rev. Schnatz, of North Hampton. Two brothers, Holly, of Yellow Springs and Fred of near Osborn, also survive.

Funeral services will be held Sunday, at the late residence, with interment at Fairfield cemetery.

BASEBALL SEASON OPENED THURSDAY BY COLLEGE TEAMS

Antioch College and Cedarville College broke the ice of intercollegiate baseball in this county at Yellow Springs, Thursday afternoon, and incidentally officially opened the diamond season here, with Coach Earl Prugh's athletes setting the Cedarville disposers down with a 12 to 2 score.

Dwight Northup, whose ability to hit the basketball has taught him how to groove them over the plate, and whose knowledge of English enabled him to fool opposing batsmen, stood the Cedarville artillerymen on their heads during six innings and only permitted two hits during his time on the mound, shutting out the visitors. Wright, who relieved him in the seventh, allowed three hits, and a little wildness and an error contributed to the two runs which saved the Cedarville nine from a shut out in the eighth inning.

Northup struck out 13 batters during the six innings he worked, while Wright, whiffed three. Arthur, on the hill for the Cedarville nine, pitched a fairly steady game, permitting eight hits, but six errors back of him aided in his downfall. The game was played through in a little more than two hours, and was a good exhibition for a season's opener. The lineups: Antioch—D. Northup p; Stone cf; Nelson ss; L. Northup cf; Wright lb; Smith 2b; Vannorsdall rf; M. Dawson lf; Anderson 3b; Cedarville—Collins ss; White cf; Wright c; Markle 2b; Wickerham rf; Coleman lb; Riddell 3b; Snell lf; Arthur p. The score: Antioch...2 3 0 0 0 4 3 0 x 12 8 2 Cedarville 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 2 5 6

Umpires: Wallace and Fry. Time: Two hours and 18 minutes.

Antioch will play Ohio Northern University at Ada, Saturday, as the next game in its baseball schedule. The Jungle League formed at Antioch has attracted a number of students and games are played every day. The league consists of six teams representing the academy and faculty.

The Antioch girls have taken up field hockey, and are willing to meet any other college girls at the game.

FARM PROGRESS

Laid 21 Eggs; Made 33 Cents Since Fall Average List Shows

It cost farmers 25 cents to produce a dozen eggs throughout the quarter from mid-November to mid-February, according to cost accounts kept by 582 Ohio farmers in cooperation with the Ohio State University's poultry department. The average hen of the 129,651 on these poultry "demonstration" farms laid 21 eggs during the three months and the average profit was 33 cents per hen for the period.

The best two records for winter laying were turned in by the Opekesit Farm in Hamilton County, and by the Willis Farm in Lucas County. On the first farm, each of 722 hens averaged an output of 52 eggs for the three months; on the second, each of a flock of 554 laid an average of 50 eggs.

Greene County has five poultry demonstration farms, working in cooperation with the state university department, according to County Agent Ford S. Prince.

The owners of the farms are Elmer Hetsel, Xenia township; Mrs. Thurman Middleton, Caesar Creek township; Mrs. C. D. Miers, Spring Valley township; Howard Woods, Sugar Creek township, and Stephan V. Stedman, of Beaver Creek township.

Cedarville College Notes

The Rangers Club of Cedarville College made its usual trip last Friday. They visited Jamestown in the afternoon and Port William at night. Both places seemed to enjoy the program very much.

April Fool Social was given by the Christian Endeavor of the R. P. Church last Friday night. Many of the College students attended. The evening was spent in playing games and contests. All had a splendid time and bountiful refreshments were served.

Miss Hazel Williams and Miss Mabel Shinkle went to Westerville,

World's Tallest Office Building Proves Practically Expense-Proof

Use of Durable Metals in Construction Gives Beauty with Permanence

BUILDERS of office skyscrapers in New York are taking a leaf out of the book of Frank W. Woolworth who, thirty-five years after he opened his first five and ten cent store in Utica, N. Y., reared the tallest office structure in the world as his monument.

As the years go by it has become apparent that he built the beautiful Woolworth Building to be as nearly as possible "expense-proof." Wherever possible he used copper or brass or bronze, because these metals do not rust and so are practically everlasting.

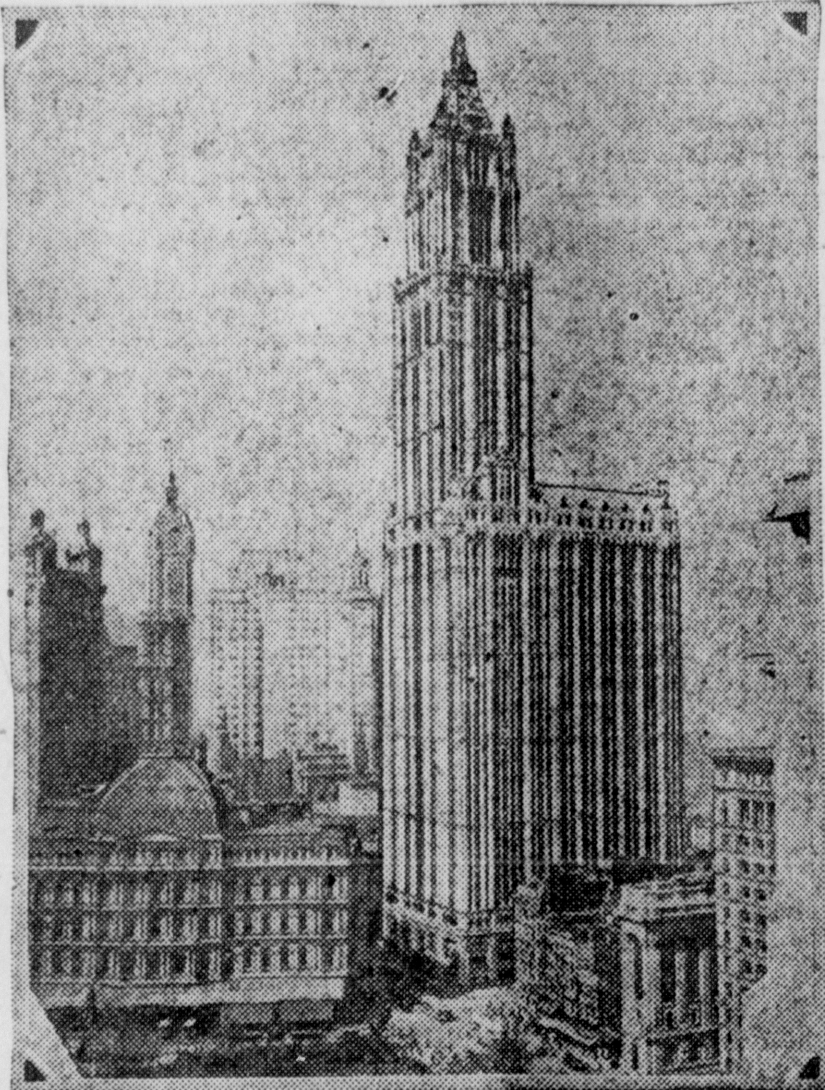

The upkeep and repairs of a sixty story building would be terrific if materials that lack endurance were used. That is why, for instance, Mr. Woolworth used 180,000 pounds of brass pipe in the water-supply system of the building.

The copper-capped tower of the Woolworth Building with its trace of pleasing green color, is beautiful and permanent. No paint could make it more delightful to the eye. The huge lantern at the peak of the tower, which at night is visible beyond Sandy Hook, the leaders and down-spouts, the skylights, the screens, and the flashings, are all of copper.

The magnificent entrance doors are bronze, and all the exposed part of the observation gallery on top of the tower, which thousands visit every year, are brass.

The great genius of the "five and ten" knew how to make a penny count. He visualized in a striking way the reaction of a trained business mind to the advice of the architect and builder. He secured not only permanence and endurance but also a minimum cost of upkeep and beauty as well, by making his building "expense-proof."

Architects and builders have for years stressed the economy of the use

The HOME GARDEN

What to Plant This Month: transplanted cabbage, beets, carrots, Swiss chard, Kohlrabi, lettuce, onion seed and sets, parsnips, radishes, spinach.

Don't work heavy soils when wet, they are easily puddled and become cloddy. Press a small amount of the soil into a ball in one hand. If the ball of soil can be easily crumbled, it is right for working.

Final preparation of the soil for seed should be made only on that part of the land where the seeds can be planted at once. It is well to keep the unplanted portion stirred up; this saves moisture.

Depth of planting depends on soil, season and size of seed. Large seeds must go deeper than small ones, and soils require deeper seeding than clays, in dry seasons you must plant deeper than in wet seasons.

Thickness of planting depends on crop and soil. For any crop, thick seeding and thinning later is advisable. Carrots and parsnips must always be sown thickly, as much of the seed may not sprout.

As soon as the seed is planted, fill in the furrow and firm the soil with the back of the hoe or rake. Transplant the short stalky plants, and retain as much soil around the roots as possible. If it is hot pour a cup of water around the roots as soon as the plant is set.

BIG INCREASE IN EMPLOYMENT SHOWN DURING PAST MONTH

Washington, April 7.—Increased employment ranging up to 28 per cent over the preceding month was reported yesterday to the employment services of the department of labor from 43 of 65 representative cities for the month ending March 31. The automotive and allied industries, iron and steel and their products and lumber headed the trades showing improved activity. The net increases for the country figured on reports from 1428 firms, was 2.5 per cent.

Many of the 22 cities reporting pronounced optimistic feeling that states, their reports reflecting the results of the textile strikes now in progress. Leather, chemicals and food products also employed fewer workers in March than in February. Denver led the reporting cities with an increase in employment in March of 23.2 per cent, Memphis being second with 18.1 and Seattle, third with 11.8 per cent. Patterson, N. J., reported a decrease of 17.2 per cent. Manchester, N. H., 14.9 and Lowell, Mass., 11.7.

"Industry took up considerable slack in March," said Francis I. Jones, director general of the employment service, in a statement accompanying the report. "Business will not come back with a jump, but every indication points to a general progressive movement. The coal situation may check improvement in certain lines, interrupting a steady, healthy swing heading to normal conditions. However, there is a general pronounced optimistic feeling that warrants the statement that April will show increased activity other than in coal and cotton textiles."

Reports from 231 of the principal industrial centers, he added, indicated an active building program with an increased ratio of new residences.

WARNING COMES

Washington, April 7.—On top of the warning issued to the American navy against acceptance of red propaganda came a similar warning this yesterday addressed to the army by Secretary of War Weeks.

Weeks said "certain radical elements" have been at work in both army and navy attempting to inculcate soviet doctrines in service men. The twin warning caused considerable mystery here in view of the announcement by Attorney General Daugherty that the red scare was greatly exaggerated.

LARGE MEETING HELD THURSDAY

Over forty members of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Second United Presbyterian Church, were guests of Mrs. William Dinges, at her home on South Detroit Street Thursday afternoon, at the regular meeting of the society.

The meeting was in charge of Miss Margaret Moorehead, the vice president in the absence of Mrs. Charles P. Proudfit, the president.

The topic of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. T. C. Wolford, the different members taking part. Talks were given by Miss Mary Kyle, a returned missionary, and Mrs. John Van Eaton. Papers on the subject were given by Mrs. Frank Collins and Mrs. Frank Hastings.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were heard during the afternoon, each report showing progress in the work of the society.

A social hour, when refreshments were served, was held after the program was finished.

ENTERTAINS THIMBLE CLUB THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Charles McElfresh proved a gracious hostess, when she received the members of the Thimble Club, of Obidient Council, No. 160. Daughters of America, at her home Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. McElfresh was assisted during the afternoon by Mrs. Q. S. McCoy, and Mrs. Raymond McElfresh.

The forepart of the afternoon was spent by the club members with their needlework, contests being enjoyed later. Prizes were won by Mrs. Roy Sutton and Mrs. Elmer Wood.

A refreshment course was served. Twenty-six members and four visitors enjoyed the afternoon.

BUSINESS MEETING HELD BY SCHOOL CIRCLE

Reports of the year's work were given by the officers of the Spring Hill Mothers' Circle, at the meeting held at the schoolhouse, Thursday afternoon.

Following the business meeting, the members of the society enjoyed a program of songs, piano solos, and recitations given by the pupils of the fifth grade.

A refreshment course was served at the close of the meeting. Twenty-two members were present.

ENTERTAIN MEMBERS AT SUPPER THURSDAY

The men of the Good Samaritan class of Friends Bible School, gave a supper for the women of the class, at the church Thursday evening.

The menu consisted of mashed potatoes, chicken noodles, baked beans, and hot biscuits, the cooking and serving being done by the men of the class.

Seventy-eight persons enjoyed the supper, nearly all of whom were members of the class.

QUIETLY MARRIED THURSDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Elizabeth Snider, of this city, and Mr. Frank S. Linkhart, well known farmer of Spring Valley township, were quietly married at the parsonage of the First Reformed Church Thursday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock.

The couple was unattended, and went immediately to their home on Chestnut Street, this city.

Mrs. Hattie Van Kirk, of Cottage Grove avenue, spent Thursday with her sister Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, of Goes Station.

S. Engelman spent Friday in Cincinnati, on business.

Walker Taylor son of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Taylor, who has been attending Cedarville College, left Thursday for Kansas City, where he will join the Ellison-White Chautauqua Company, the company with which he was connected last year. The company will tour the southwestern part of the country, including Texas, Louisiana, California, and Oregon, the tour covering five months.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, of Goes Station visited Mrs. Cunningham's sister, Mrs. J. M. West, of London, last week end.

The Westminster Guild will meet Tuesday evening, April 11, at the home of Mrs. W. Crawford Craig, with Miss Bertha McCarthy the assistant hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Leeper of Chicago, will leave for their home in Chicago, Saturday, after being called here by the death of Mrs. W. C. Hutchison.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the first Reformed Church, will be held at the home of Mrs. Emil Eichman, Wednesday afternoon, April 12 at two o'clock.

Mrs. Scott Slaughter, (Dorothy Dodds) of London, Ohio, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Dodds, of West Second Street.

Mrs. J. N. Baker of Washington, C. H. arrived in this city Friday and will spend the week end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Frazer at their home on West Church Street.

STRIKING MINERS MAY BE EVICTED FROM COMPANY-OWNED HOMES.

Many of the 525,000 striking miners may be evicted from their homes, owned by the coal companies. The nationwide strike has closed 4,500 mines in 20 states. Additional mines soon will be closed, declare union officials, when 100,000 non-union miners join the strike. Here is shown a typical miners home.

DAUGHTER IS HELD

St. Louis, April 7.—Following a night long family quarrel, George L. Richie, 53, was mysteriously shot in his home here early today. He is in a dangerous condition at the city hospital where he insists that he shot himself.

His daughter, Maude, 18, is in custody at police headquarters. She told the police that she accidentally shot her father when she intervened in a quarrel between him and her mother.

"I only wanted to scare him," she said. "It went off by itself. He was cruel to my mother."

TO HOLD MEETING

A meeting of the cream producers of Miami Township will be held Saturday evening, April 8, at seven thirty o'clock, at the Yellow Springs Grange Hall.

Plans have been completed for the start of the local cream station, and it is hoped that the station will be opened Monday morning.

FOUR MILES OF PIKE WILL BE RESURFACED

Four miles of the Wilmington-Xenia pike, from the Wilmington corporation toward Xenia, will be resurfaced with tarvia or asphalt this summer, it is announced in Wilmington.

Included in $34,447.50 which the state highway department will spend in Clinton County this year, is also the resurfacing of 12-miles of highway between Wilmington and the Fayette County line, east of Sabina.

An echo of the building of the four-mile stretch of the Wilmington-Xenia pike, just out of Wilmington, is being heard in the Ironton courts this week, where Scott Wilson, and others, have brought suit against Lansford and Lansford, and others, charging alleged failure of the defendant company, which built that section of road, to pay for crushed stone used, at the time of construction, several years ago.

STREETS REPAIRED BY COUNTY'S AID

Home avenue from the end of the paving to the corporation and from the corporation line to the Wilmington pike, and Bellbrook avenue from Second St. to the corporation line, are both being repaired by the city and Xenia township through the courtesy of the commissioners in loaning county road machinery for that purpose.

The city obtained the use of the machinery before it is sent out to the county for the summer's work, and these streets are being spiked up within the city limits and re-graded. The township trustees are seeing that this work is done from the corporation line on Home avenue to the junction with the Wilmington pike.

Why Baby Chicks Must Be Fed Carefully

Chicks have powerful digestive organs for quickly converting large quantities of food into body tissues, which results in amazing growth. But these organs are peculiarly susceptible to the effects of improper feeding—the cause of great losses to poultrymen every year.

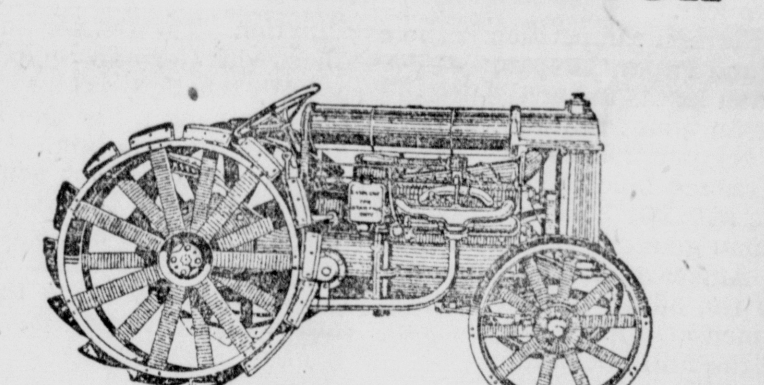

While opinions of authorities differ as to the ingredients for a good chick ration they agree very closely as to the chemical analysis required. You will find that Vitality Chick Mash and Vitality Chick Scratch contain the elements which most poultry authorities recommend, and we guarantee that only pure, wholesome ingredients are used.

Make sure of strong, healthy chickens this year by feeding Vitality Poultry Feeds. Ask for "Chick Insurance".

IS THE STRIKE TO BE A FIZZLE OR AN ARMAGEDDON?

Lacking some super-machinery to stop it, this strike had to be. There are too many mines, but no man wants to close his mine. There are more men than jobs, but 200,000 miners have not offered to get out of the mines. Wages are too high, but labor resents reductions. Prices are extravagant, but operators and dealers are adamant. West Virginia is the sharp thorn in unionism's side and unionized mines see business headed toward the non-union fields.

War-time prosperity has gone with the roses of yesteryear, leaving the coal business with foundations undermined and shaking, but unionism is fighting for its high wages, for complete unionization and a forced job for everybody and is willing to pass the bill along to the coal buyer. Capital's and labor's natural instincts are to fight about it instead of getting together and shaping new foundations to meet new conditions.

This strike is bigger than the coal industry, for it is a part of the major struggle in the war-hastened push toward labor domination of American industry and the reaction of capital toward the open shop. Unionism will try for a knockout this time, not because the leaders wanted a fight just now, but because the man with the pick rose up and demanded and made the terms for it and because the operator thinks it better to fight now than in 1924.

As industry is organized this is one strike that had to be. This is the hard logic of the situation, and when an Armageddon comes along truces break, while agreements go overboard, and about all investigating commissions may do is to follow along and perch with owl-like gravity on the ruins.

COULD NOT MEET GERMAN COMPETITION AND HAD TO CLOSE.

The Dexter Sulphite, Pulp and Paper Company's plant, Watertown, N. Y., has been closed after a quarter of a century of operation, throwing 350 men out of employment and disheartening residents of Dexter.

The management of this plant can offer no hope for a reopening of this mill. Operating costs in this highly specialized plant had been reduced to a minimum. Wages had been cut, with the co-operation of employees, until rock bottom was reached. Yet the concern was losing money and a shutdown was the only course left.

Foreign competition is the explanation. The Dexter Sulphite, Pulp and Paper Company could not meet with German competition. German labor, under the present rate of exchange, works for four cents an hour; rents in Germany are $2 a month. In the face of this competition the American mill could not function. It could not reduce labor to the German basis. It could not sell goods made at labor costing 35 or 40 cents an hour at the same price German goods bring, made with labor costing four cents an hour. The American laboring man cannot be asked to work for less than the 35 or 40 cent minimum. The company knew this, but the men also knew the company cannot afford to pay it. Therefore the mill is closed.

THE POPULAR EUROPEAN GAME OF GUESSING NATIONALITY.

You are traveling in Europe. Your porter points out your train to you. You run up and down the tracks in search of a compartment of the first, second, third or fourth class, according to the amount you have paid for your ticket. If you are lucky, you will find, before the train pulls out, an empty place in one not marked "Ladies Only," "Military Only," or "Smoking." "No Smoking," or anything else which may exclude you. You climb in and adjust your baggage in the space allotted you, and settle yourself in your seat beneath the interested gaze of your fellow-travelers. There will be a moment of deep silence, then one will turn to his neighbor and inquire pleasantly, in French, German, or Italian as the case may be: "Where do you say he comes from?" The direction of the speaker's eyes instantly betrays that you are the topic of conversation. Do not be alarmed, traveler, you are probably no stranger looking than any of the other creatures that thronged the station platform a moment before, but that is not the point.

The first time or so that this happens to you, you will be embarrassed, or at least startled by the frankness with which you are discussed, but experience soon teaches you that no offense is intended and that you merely happened to be "it" in the popular European game known as "Guessing Nationality."

One of the beauties of the game is that it can be played almost anywhere—as you sit talking your tea and watching the passerby from a sidewalk cafe, in your hotel lobby or dining room—in fact, anywhere that two or three foreigners are gathered together.

HEALTHFUL HOTEL FARE.

The hotel bill of fare now takes its place among the great uplifting dietary influences of the nation. One of the big New York hostilities offers its guests a choice of seven different menus each calculated to offset the tendency to some human ill supposedly attributable to incorrect diet or aggravated by it.

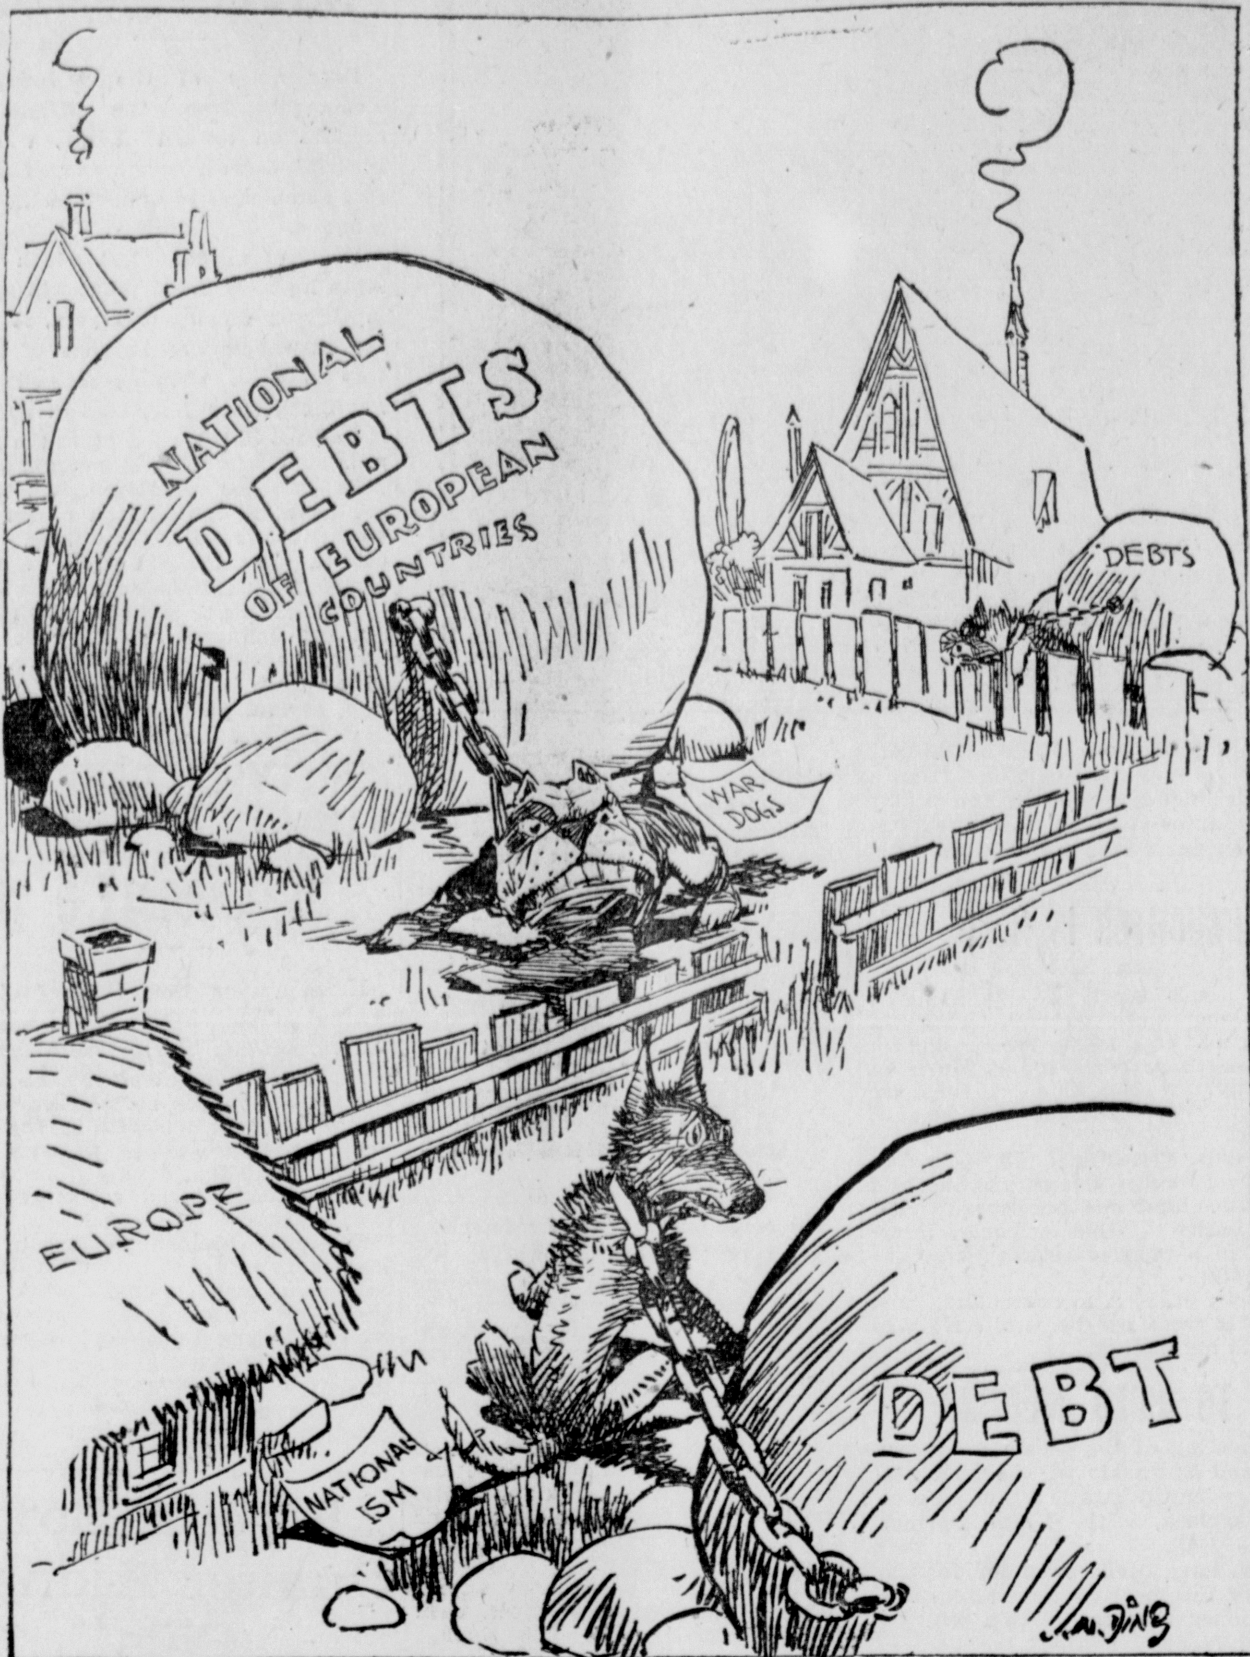

The eater-at-large often is careless about his foods or does not know what to order. If he is perfectly well, his random fodder may do him little harm. If he is not, it may cost him dear, physically as well as financially. It is the object of the menus provided to help him choose both pleasantly and wisely. The seven particular ills from which he is offered protection through proper selection of foods are obesity, constipation, rheumatism, gout, high blood pressure, diabetes and malnutrition.

There are comparatively few visitors to New York who would really appreciate this delicate little attention. Most people's idea of a good time in the big city is "eats and more eats," appalling in variety, quantity and cost. For the benefit of this majority be it remarked that there is nothing compulsory about the more guarded menus. The hotel will cheerfully serve the wild feeder according to his imagination, and charge him even beyond it. None the less, the idea is good.

Tellier, the inventor of cold storage, died of starvation. According to the Department of Agriculture, cold storage warehouses in this country at the present time contain 543,573,000 cubic feet of refrigerated space.

It is estimated that 150,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas is wasted every year in this country through domestic appliances alone.

Watch the little folks speed home for Kellogg's Corn Flakes

"Madder, I always wins the race when I carry home Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I can't hardly wait till I have some quick, madder!"

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these joyous oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy—is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

Be certain to get Kellogg's—the delicious kind of Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package—because none are genuine without the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes.

THE PUMP.

I celebrate the cistern pump in all my tireless rhyming; how brilliantly its waters jump, when it has had a priming! I work the handle down and up, and watch the gushing fluid, and quaff a gallon from the cup, as quaffed the old time Druid. They say that base and evil men are selling bootleg brandy; in musty joint and squalid den they keep the poison handy. And customers go there and swill the stuff from frowsy flagons, then to the bone-yard on the hill they go in creaking wagons. If they escape the bier and shroud, it may be they'll be blinded, and crippled, busted up and bowed, and sick and broken winded. For booze is made of deadly things, of powdered toads and henna, of warthog tusks and serpent stings, and chophouse pies and senna. So I shall seek no alley dump for drinks made by a vandal, but journey to the cistern pump and blithely ply the handle.

JURY'S VERDICT FAVORS DEFENDANT IN LOCAL CASE

The jury in the case of The Miami Conservancy District against The Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, Railway Company, and others, in Common Pleas Court Thursday returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, the railroad company, after thirty minutes deliberation.

The case was given to the jury about 2:15 o'clock and that body returned a unanimous verdict half an hour later. It was only necessary to have nine jurors agreeing to reach a verdict in the case, as it was a civil action.

The plaintiff district asked damages in the sum of $3,202 in its suit against the railroad, claiming that sparks from an engine of the railroad had fired a barn owned by the plaintiff near Fairfield last August, causing damage in that amount.

The barn was rented and used by the City of Dayton, which also had a claim in the action against the railroad company. The Ohio Farmers' Insurance Company, also a party to the action, paid the amount of insurance on the barn, and sought judgment in that amount. Proof that the fire which destroyed the barn actually started from a spark thrown from the railroad engine was the stumbling block in the way of the plaintiffs and was the bone of contention during the trial, which occupied three days.

PLAN WOULD COST U. S. $52,000,000 PER YEAR

Washington, April 7.—Adoption of President Harding's ship subsidy plan would ultimately cost the government $52,000,000 a year, it was declared yesterday by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, in testifying before a joint congressional committee.

"The plan will cost $52,000,000 a year when it is in full operation," Lasker said. His statement came after a series of rapid fire questions from committee members who attempted to pin him to a definite figure. Lasker said that the government would save $5,000,000 of the total amount by carrying its foreign mail in American ships.

SOME HOUSEHOLD HINTS FROM READERS

In reply to a letter from a Reader of this column reading: "I have heard about a paste that will remove down from ducks; can you tell me how to make this paste?" several other readers have generously dropped me a line telling me how they remove down from ducks—but none of them seem to know about the "paste" referred to. I cannot quote all these letters, but will mention the various methods they contain.

1. Two readers dust the wet ducks with powdered rosin, then scald them well and rub the down off. 2. Four other readers use the hot paraffine method—that is, pick off the large feathers and roll the duck in melted paraffine wax, let cool, and take off the wax—to which the down is sticking. 3. Still another reader declares that there is no better method than the old one of singeing off the down: she removes all the feathers, places a large pen on the stove lights long torches of rolled-up newspaper and places these burning torches in the pan; then hold the duck over the burning paper. 4. And still another reader fills a bucket three quarters full of boiling water to which she adds 1 tablespoon of baking soda, dips the duck up and down in this hot water, then rolls the wet duck in a piece of blanketing to allow it to steam well; the duck may then be picked like a chicken, she declares, but if it does not clean well, she repeats the process. When she wishes to save the feathers, she puts them in a muslin bag and dries them (in this bag) with as good results as if they were picked dry.

Miss Y. "I recently saw your reply to a reader who asked you if one could mend a hot-water bag successfully. Here is how to do it; I cover the hole or crack with melted letter sealing-wax; let it dry—and it is as good as new."

M. S. "Here is a discovery I have made: If one will add about a pint of good salad oil to 60 or 70 cents worth of beef fat while trying it will keep the fat from getting so hard. Beat in the oil as the fat cools. In this way, it is creamy and nice. Also, in trying out fat, the first of it can be poured off without straining. I find I do this several times and it is always clear."

Kate W. "I always use silver polish

WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENTS RECEIVED IN THIS CITY

Interesting cards have been received by friends in this city announcing the marriage of Miss Jessie C. McDowell, formerly of Xenia to the Rev. W. G. Nocka, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., March 24.

The Rev. and Mrs. Nocka are now at home in Lawrenceburg.

LARGE CLASS IS INITIATED THURSDAY

One of the largest classes ever initiated into Xenia lodge took the degree Thursday night into Pride of Xenia Council, No. 140, Daughters of America.

The initiatory work was in charge of the lodge degree team. One hundred and fifty people, including members of the Obedient Council No. 160 witnessed the ceremony.

Members of the lodge are planning to entertain in honor of the new class in the near future.

A social time, with games and refreshments was enjoyed by members of Phoenix Rebekah Lodge, following the regular business meeting at the lodge hall, Thursday night. Fifty members were present.

CLIPPING THE HAIR

The condition of the hair, its lustre and thickness and the richness of its colour is largely a matter of physical health, yet no hair that is not properly cared for can be beautiful.

The hair must be shampooed carefully about once in three weeks and not simply washed every now and then with any sort of soap. The hair must be carefully and gently brushed, and the brush should never be brought down hard upon the scalp. The ends of the hair must be clipped frequently so as to encourage the growth of new hairs, and so as to avoid split ends.

Chemically speaking, the hair is made up of the same material as our finger and toe nails. Each hair is composed of a number of overlapping cells, it is not a hollow tube as is popularly supposed. The growth of the hair is a continual pushing up wards of these cells which are constantly forming inside the skin. When one hair is pulled out or when it drops out another hair will be put forth, and then another and still another one, unless the papillae which nourish the hair is dead or diseased. In that case no new hair will grow.

If the scalp is neglected, if dirt or any kind of disease gets too great a hold upon it, the healthy hair will weaken and lose their colour, they will break and split and finally fall out and the new hairs that grow in will be weaker and will lack the beauty which only comes from good health. That is why clipping the hair to prevent broken and split ends is healthful. It is not too often to clip the hair ones every six weeks.

Dark Eyes—Your experience is unusual but if you feel well there is no need for anxiety. Jet black hair that is changing to red could mean a chemical change in the system, possibly an excessive amount of iron. As black is your natural color, this change will likely be temporary. At 17 there is often this sensitiveness about parts of the body being over developed, but it is not as serious as it appears to you.

Stenographer—If you send me a stamped addressed envelope, I shall be glad to mail you a formula for your hair. In the mean time try crude oil and massage it into the scalp while it is kept heated. Do this the night before the regular shampoo.

Tomorrow—Diet Menus in Hotels.

INVITED TO THE COURSE OF WORK AT CAMP ROOSEVELT

Boys from Greene County, are again invited to take the course in physical-military training to be given during July and August, at Camp Roosevelt under command of Major P. L. Beals, U. S. A. Word to that effect has been received by Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz from Peter A. Mortenson, Superintendent of Chicago Public Schools.

During the past three summers, thousands of boys underwent training at the encampment, and it is expected this number will be greatly increased this year.

RECEIVES OLD PAPERS.

Mr. A. S. Huff has sent Mr. J. P. Chew a lot of old newspapers, mostly about forty years old, found in the garret of the old Corry homestead on the Yellow Springs pike. They include a number of religious papers, but mostly Xenia Gazettes.

ELEANOR GRACE SAYS

The impulse to honor an occasion or a friend by the wearing of new and beautiful apparel is as old as civilization itself. Thus the custom of wearing new raiment on Easter Sunday, the great festival day of the church. Viewed in this light the new Easter clothes become not a vanity but a tribute.

To some friends you will want to send an Easter message more intimate than the usual card. In our line of pretty stationery you can find just the kind of correspondence cards you want for from 35c to 75c a box. For the tiny wee baby one of those darling little brush and comb sets would be a charming Easter gift. One adorned with a festive bunny prancing gaily about on his hind legs appeals to my jocund nature. The brush is soft as thistle-down. Only $1.00.

I have just found out what color periwinkle really is. It is a lavender that just misses being blue and a blue that is nearly lavender. Isn't that clear? It's wonderfully pretty and generally becoming.

Those dainty dimity blouses with collars and cuffs of checked gingham and colored rating are so smart with the suit. They only cost $2.50.

Beautiful Indeed Are The Silk and Handmade Blouses

Priced $2.50 to $10.00

Handsome blouses of batiste and voile are the acme of daintiness and refinement. For the fastidious woman they have an irresistible appeal. We have a large assortment of these exquisite blouses in V neck, vest front and frilled models, some with touches of real filet and Irish crochet. Priced .....$2.50 TO $10.00

No. 1. Cost of the Ocean Voyage

"BEYOND the Alps lies Italy."

Across the deep blue of the Atlantic lies not only Italy, but all the rest of fascinating Europe, in which we find added to the dimly romantic lore of past centuries, the tangible contribution of the present new one. For the moment, in fact, the new has all but over-shadowed the old. Folks pass Waterloo to gaze awestruck upon Namur, upon Liege and upon Louvain. They point this way and they point that; these were the forts that little Belgium had deemed well-nigh impregnable; this was the road down which the grey German columns marched in that fateful August of 1914. These crumbling stones were once the well ordered University of Louvain.

Yet, let no man or woman who ponders this question of a trip to Europe in his mind or hers, fancy that all the worth-while sight-seeing over there today is within the devastated areas. As a matter of fact, most of it is well outside of them. The old Europe is recovering its balance—in some corners with an astounding rapidity. Paris is all but entirely back to its pre-war briskness and coquetry; her boulevards and parks thronged as they never before have been thronged. In London they are again painting the shops and the great houses a creamy white—as if the sedate British metropolis had never even dreamed of soft coal. Along the Riviera the gay folk play as of yore. Biarritz, St. Moritz, Cannes, Nice, Dieppe, Deauville, Ostend—all thronged. The Alps beckon with a beauty never dimmed. Italy is as colorful and beguiling as of yore. Central Europe calls to Americans of kindred blood, and offers amazing values through the exchange value of the dollar, adding the charms, as in other days, of good music, art and rare wines.

The old fascination of Europe brushes elbows with the new—and yet holds its own. To the American traveler an opportunity, always rich in its dramatic appeal, has been doubled. To much has been added much.

Of travel riches overseas today, it may truly be said that there is almost a genuine embarrassment. Granted the supreme desire, the opportunity fulfilled of getting away from desk or workshop for even a brief four or five or six weeks, how rests the program for the journey of 8,000 miles across the Atlantic, the journeyings required within Europe and the voyage back to the United States? What is it all to cost? For the voyage in each direction? For railroad or motor car hauls? For hotels and restaurants? For all the rest of it?

Let us take up these things in the sequence in which they belong. What is the first, actual step?

Getting Your Passport.

Your passport. In the days before the coming of the Great War it involved no more official difficulty to go to London or Berlin or Paris or Madrid than to go to the Grand Canyon or the Yellowstone. You boarded a ship at New York or Boston or Philadelphia or Montreal, and you would board a train and you went. Nothing more than that.

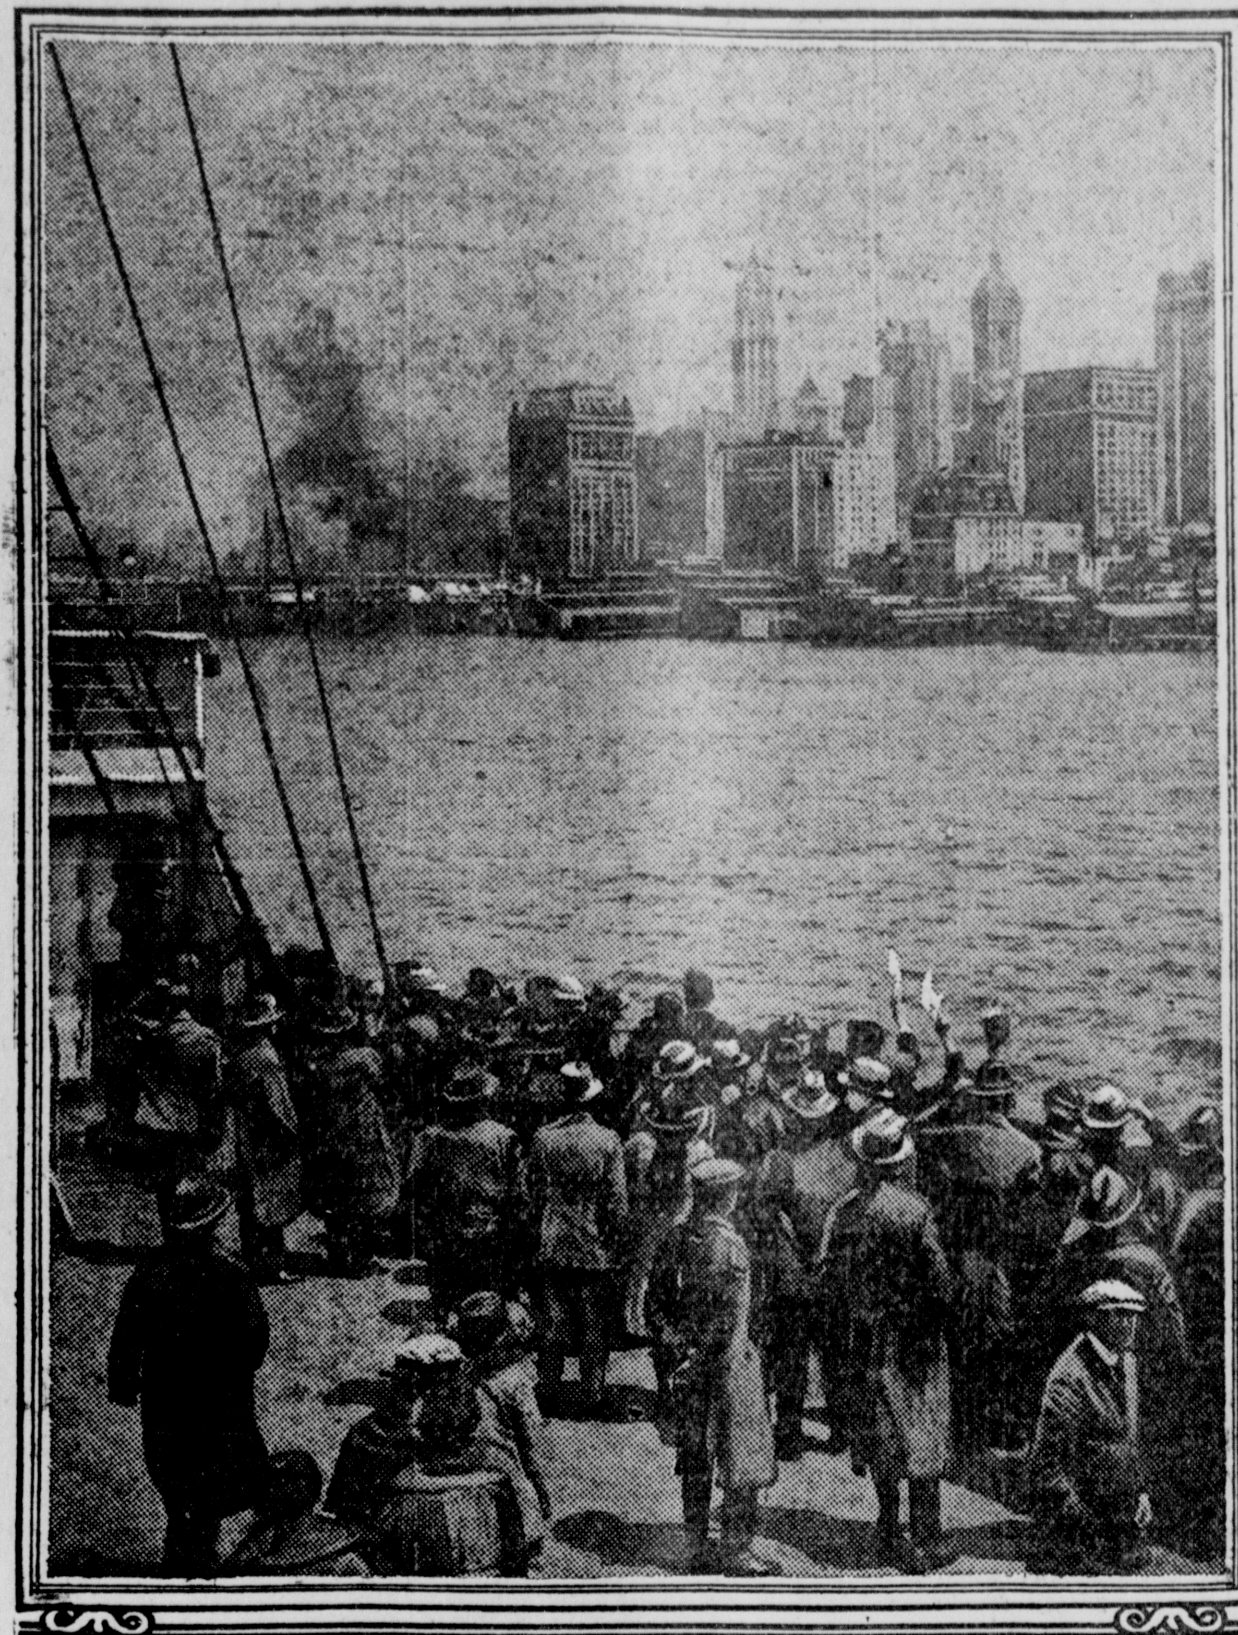

Today is different. As a direct consequence of the war an enormous passport system has been upbuilt in every nation, but happily now it is being stripped of its complications. Holland, Belgium and Switzerland have abolished visas upon passports issued by the United States of America to American citizens. They are quite willing to take our government's word for it, that it would not issue a passport to a man or woman not fit to carry such a document overseas.

Yet, the chief blame for present passport regulations in other countries rests on Washington. It was our own Uncle Sam who first began charging his own people $10 each for passports, and also raised the charge for his visa on those belonging to the citizens of other lands to the same figure. This quickly and logically provoked our cousins overseas to reprisals. It costs ten dollars each for visas to the average European nation today.

Americans may reduce the charge, however, by securing a visa only to the first country to which they are bound, and obtaining their remaining visas as they go along, paying for them in the money of the country where the visa is obtained. Thus, the fee for a German visa in New York is $10. In Brussels, where you pay in Belgian francs, at a favorable rate of exchange, it costs you only about $6. And so on.

To obtain your passport you can obtain from your steamship agent the name of the nearest Federal office authorized to receive applications for passports; or your county clerk will make the application for you. All passports are issued by the State Department at Washington. With your application you must file two photographs of yourself, made in a size which will be given you. These cost less than a dollar.

In a few days you receive an imposing green-bound document, the first time in your life you know off-cially that you are a citizen of the United States. The government tells you so in purple (navy, green) and fine linen.

A day at the port of sailing in advance of that great event will enable you to see the consular representative of the nation that you intend first to visit and obtain (generally with very little ceremony) his official visa. If you wish to obtain visas for all the countries you are to visit, before starting, it can be done at your sailing port.

Income-tax clearance certificates, formerly exacted by this government, are no longer required of citizens.

What Clothing to Take
I shall assume that you have heeded the advice so long given transatlantic travelers to keep your baggage down to the absolute minimum. Even though the steamship company is generous in its baggage allowance—350 pounds to the passenger—the railroads overseas are not so generous. In France, for instance, you may carry but 66 pounds before reaching an overweight charge; while in certain other countries, notably Germany, there is no free allowance whatsoever. You pay for everything that you cannot carry in your hands, or those of your porters, and stow away with you in racks over your head in the railway carriage.

You will, if you are wise, prepare to dress simply both aboard ship and in your touring across Europe. If you travel on one of the larger ships, you will want to dress for dinner; but this is not mandatory. The same is true of the hotels—the larger ones expect you to dress for dinner, but do not insist on it. Walking tweeds will take you across the ocean and across Europe, and no harm done, if they are what you want to wear.

Simple, durable dust-proof clothes are best for traveling. Hand grips are better baggage than trunks. The traveler with two pieces of baggage usually is twice as happy as the traveler with four. Travel rugs are sometimes convenient, but are not necessary. On shipboard you get a rug for your steamer chair from the deck steward. An umbrella is always useful in Europe.

Guidebooks and maps, in a reasonable number, are a great comfort, and a camera, to one who understands its workings, is an eternal joy. You will find the American photo supply shops all over Europe and nearly all do developing and printing of the highest grade.

Your funds should be carried in International Travelers' Checks—a simple, thief proof means of saving yourself worry. These can be bought of any steamship agent, and can be cashed anywhere in Europe—at hotels, railroad stations, shops or even theatres. The old idea of carrying money in a belt is now obsolete.

Ocean Services and Costs

Roughly speaking, it may be said that ocean travel today figures out at something less than ten cents a mile, first-class for the 3,000 mile journey across the Atlantic on the most luxurious liners. The charge includes, of course, your meals and sleeping accommodations, both of the very highest type. There is a slight fluctuation in rates, due to the type of ship chosen for the voyage as well as the season of the year in which the traveler wishes to cross. For instance, the minimum rate on a de luxe ship of 40,000 tons or so, for crossing from New York to the so-called Channel ports, Cherbourg or Southampton, is about $275 in each direction, in the height of the season, with no extras.

But, superb as these ships are with every last word of luxury and comfort in their construction and furnishings—Turkish baths, gymnasiums, swimming pools, Parisian restaurants upon their upper decks—there is no necessity for the thrifty traveler using them. The last time that I crossed the Atlantic, was on the staunch 20,000-ton ship from Liverpool. Her minimum rate was $225. She was a fine ship, and with a fine ship's company, and many distinguished passengers. One could not have asked for a better ship, better service, better company, or a pleasanter eight-day voyage from the mouth of the Mersey to Ambrose Channel lightship off Sandy Hook.

Another attractive type of ship is Traveling Expenses.)

that plying to Antwerp, for first, second and third-class traffic, with stops at Plymouth and Cherbourg. Slightly smaller than the Liverpool ships, these vessels have a slightly lower rate; but their service and cooking are famous.

Do not forget that Europe has Southern gateways as well as Northern. The first is Gibraltar (by ferry to Algeiras for Spain). In Italy are Naples and Genoa—well patronized entrances to her charms. There is a good service from both New York and Boston to these ports; the steamers are not quite so large as those of the North Atlantic routes; but in the winter seasons the prospect of a smooth voyage is more assured. An additional attraction is added in the fact that most, if not all of these steamers by the Southern routes make an intermediate stop either at the Azores or at Madeira. A recent ruling obtained by the steamship companies makes it unnecessary to have Portuguese visas for the stop at these mid-Atlantic islands.

Still these ships are by no means the minimum. So-called cabin class ships ply between New York, Boston, Philadelphia or Canadian ports to Liverpool, Plymouth or German ports. They are somewhat slower craft, but steady and staunch, and of generous size—say 10,000 to 17,000 tons—and they render excellent service. Old transatlantic travelers have a tremendous fondness for them. College professors and school teachers, in particular, demand them, and upon them one gets a minimum cabin passage rate of about $125, which is cheap for the value given, being four cents a mile, or thereabouts, with food and lodging included.

Railroad Fares Abroad

Comparing your ocean fare with that of American railroad travel you will find it cheap. In the United States we are paying 3.6 a mile and about a cent more a mile for Pullman charges—of course without meals.

Railroad rates abroad vary. In Germany, to an American, who buys marks, and then buys tickets with the marks, they are ridiculously cheap. In England and Scotland you will pay practically six cents a mile, first-class; three cents, third class (second has become almost extinct in the British Isles). In France you will pay barely more than two cents a mile for first-class travel, and there, as in Great Britain, the service offered in that class is the equivalent of our Pullmans. The French second-class and third-class services are proportionately cheaper than the first, but at the present low rates of exchange, second is not a necessity, while third, save in rare cases, is hardly to be recommended to the cleanly American passenger. The rates in Switzerland, in Spain, in Italy, and elsewhere upon the Continent are ranged today variously between those of France and Great Britain.

SAVE Natural Gas

That Gas Burner and Your Gas Bills

The amount of gas that passes through your meter is the amount you pay for. Natural gas at present prices is the cheapest fuel known—but it costs money at that.

Let's see if you cannot obtain the same service for less money.

First, examine the gas burners on your cooking stove. If these burners are further away than 1 1/4 inch from the bottom of the pot or skillet, you are heating the air instead of your food.

Get a Blue Flame

Then if the flame burns yellow instead of blue, you are wasting gas. Set your mixer right—then be sure your burners are clean.

But if the gas "blows" you are letting too much of it through the mixer. Ideal cooking conditions call for a steady, noiseless, blue flame.

And if you are using a solid plate above the gas burner, throw it away and get a grid plate. Solid metal deflects heat away from your cooking, instead of applying it directly.

Try these simple things. They will make a difference in your gas bill, because they will save gas.

When you save gas you will be prolonging the supply. Unless many consumers do this, soon you will be cooking with other fuels.

Better your own service and save money—isn't that a sensible program?

DR. GRUBE ELECTED HEAD OF DISTRICT HOSPITAL THURSDAY

Dr. R. H. Grube, of this city, Greene County representative on the board of trustees of the District Tuberculosis Hospital, at Springfield, was elected president of the board at its annual reorganization meeting Thursday.

Dr. Grube who has been vice president of the board, will succeed Lester Bidwell, of London, Madison County member, as president. H. K. Humes, of Urbana, representing Champaign County was elected vice president to succeed Dr. Grube and Wilbur Tuttle of Springfield, was re-elected treasurer.

The board voted unanimously to retain Dr. C. E. M. Finney, of Springfield as hospital physician and other routine matters were taken up. "Everything is in good shape at the hospital now," said Dr. Grube Friday.

CHORUS WILL SING AT TRINITY CHURCH SUNDAY AFTERNOON

A chorus of thirty-five voices will take part in the song service to be held at Trinity M. E. Church, Sunday afternoon, April 9, at four o'clock.

The chorus, under the direction of Mrs. William E. McGervy, will sing the cantata, "Victory Divine," by Christopher Marks. A procession will precede the song service.

The tenor parts of the cantata will be sung by Ralph Thomas, well known tenor of the Dayton Conservatory of Music. The public is cordially invited to attend the service.

TUT JACKSON GIVEN DECISION OVER LANGFORD

Dayton, O., April 7.—Sam Langford, Boston Tar Baby took an awful wallop last night at the hands of Tut Jackson, of Washington C. H., and the referee after cautioning him three times warned the decision to Jackson in the fifth and stopped the fight.

Had the scrap continued it is believed Langford would have been put away cold. He was knocked down for the count of 8 in the second round and for nine in the fourth. Once he was knocked half way out of the ring.

CALL OFF SPECIAL ELECTION IN NEW JASPER TOWNSHIP SCHOOL DISTRICT WHICH WAS SCHEDULED FOR APRIL 20

The special election to have been held in New Jasper Township school district April 20 for the purpose of voting on centralization of the erection of a high school, was called off Thursday night at a meeting of the township board of education.

The special election was agreed upon recently following a mass meeting of property owners in the school district, which, however, was not as largely attended as expected. Voters were to be asked to vote on two propositions at the special election: one to vote $85,000 worth of bonds for the erection of a centralized elementary grade school and high school and one to issue $60,000 worth of bonds for the erection of a high school without centralization.

It was considered not compulsory that either proposition should be voted for, the board placing them before the people in order to learn sentiment regarding these proposals. In case they were both voted down, it would mean that the board would have to continue to pay tuition in high schools outside the district for high school students and to provide transportation for them.

Action of a number of property owners in petitioning or signifying intention of petitioning for transfer from this school district to either Xenia, Silvercreek or Caesarocreek Township school district, influenced the board in its decision to call off the special election it is said. In a statement issued Friday the board said that it hopes principally to keep the school district together, and that it believes that the withdrawal of the election will forestall efforts to transfer from the district in a large measure, although some may seek transfer.

The board points out that the withdrawal of a number of property owners from the district and the subsequent passage of one or the other of the bond issues, would place a heavy burden on those who remained in the district, and they were assured Thursday night that some petitions not yet filed, would not be filed if the election were called off.

The school question has waxed warm in the district, it is understood. The resignation of W. C. St. John as a member of the board was accepted. Mr. St. John transferred from Silvercreek to New Jasper district in 1915 and is now seeking to be transferred back to Silvercreek Township where his children attend high school.

The board still has the problem of providing funds for transportation of students to high schools outside of

Better Styles—Better Fabrics in Boys' Clothes

by Chester Teitel

66-5U-22

HUM—Spring's 'most here again and I 'gotta' make the rounds of the manufacturers just to see that they haven't slipped anything over in the way of new styles."

Honest folks—that's just how I felt when I started out, BUT the very first line that I went through affected me like a wasp sting to a hibernating bear!

Fabrics—Fashions—Colors—everything combined to produce such a thrill of "newness" and "freshness" that my lethargy vanished like mist before the sun.

Every line I inspected struck me the same way—Women's, Children's and Men's—but I am only going to tell you about the Boys' here.

GRANGE PROTESTS COAL STRIKE AS HURTING RECOVERY

Alleging that strikes will stop the progress of recovery from the war, Miami Grange, of Yellow Springs, has passed a resolution attacking strikes which has also been endorsed by Pomona Grange.

The resolution follows: "A strike now may mean famine, suffering and perhaps death in cities.

"A railroad strike now means products remaining unsold on farms or supplies piled up in railroad yards.

"If coal production stops, people will suffer more than ever for want of fuel and work. Therefore, we the members of Miami Grange, Yellow Springs, Ohio, believe that a fair and just settlement should be made for all concerned, preventing a strike.

"We protest against any owners or management of railroad or coal mine or workmen of either, creating a condition that will stop the progress of recovery from the scourge of the war, just passed and we believe that what ever differences may exist between them should be adjusted without stopping the wheels of commerce.

ver Twist, our Tommy Tucker, model, and one piece styles with washable satin waists and black and dark colored straight pants.

Tweed knickers and Norfolk jackets easily win the palm for popularity. These are carefully tailored of the finest domestic and imported fabrics. "Never had such Suits" when I was a kid, I've heard a dozen comments and it is actually a fact. And the best thing about it all is, Boys' Clothing will retail for much, much less this Spring.

I must say a word here about the variety of styles. There are any number equally attractive, although most have one feature in common—belts. Yoke backs, panels, box and knife pleats as well as novelty pockets are used with excellent effect.

Shoulders are a trifle padded—but just enough to accentuate the snug waistline and give the youths a stalwart and well setup appearance.

Headwear Preferences

Caps and Hats for Juveniles are much the same as last year although middie hats to match their wash suits are worthy of mention.

Caps for the older boys are developed in light woolen fabrics in the Spring shades. The one-piece, kind is preferred, with a generous tip and voluminous crown which is worn slightly pulled to one side. Giving a rakish appearance that is quite the thing, I'm told.

Needn't say anything about furnishings, although I DO think the open-at-the-throat sport shirts are good looking and cool for warm weather if you can persuade your Boy that they're really and truly manly.

DISCUSS TEACHING USE OF OTHER HAND TO LEFT HANDED

The proposed federation of the Parent-Teachers' Associations and Mother's Circles of the schools of the city, was discussed at the meeting of the Central Parent-Teachers' Association, held in the Portable building, Thursday.

Twenty-five members of the association, including Mrs. L. S. Hyman, president, of the McKinley Parent-Teachers' Association and Mrs. Hugh Barnes, of the Orient Hill Mother's Circle, were present at the meeting.

Increased work which is thought to be the ultimate result of the federation, is one of the promoting factors in the proposed action. A "get-together" meeting will be held by the organizations after Easter, when definite action will be decided upon.

Another important question discussed at the meeting Thursday, was the problem of instructing children in the schools, who are left-handed to use their right hands. The physical difficulties that are met when this is done were discussed by the members, who decided to investigate and to aid in changing the custom, if it proved harmful.

Members of the Parent-Teachers' Associations and of the Mother's Circles are much pleased with the progress made by the Opportunity School, and are continuing making plans for the betterment of the children. The warm lunches that have been served will be continued, benefits and other methods being planned by the mothers in aiding the plan.

SEARCHING PARTY FOR MONSTER IS STOPPED BY ORDER

Buenos Aires, April 7.—Professor Onelli, director of the Buenos Aires Zoo, who organized the expedition which left for Patagonia, March 23, in search of the reported plesiosaurian monster, was disturbed yesterday by dispatches from Trelew, saying Governor Franzoni of Chubut province had given orders forbidding the capture of the beast.

The dispatches said he acted on instructions from the minister of the interior in Buenos Aires, who had decided to prohibit the hunt at the behest of Dr. Albarracin, president of the Argentine Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Nothing has been heard from the expedition since it plunged into the wilderness. Dispatches said the governor has given instructions to the territorial police to warn the members of the expedition not to proceed.

Professor Onelli called upon Minister of the Interior Gomez this afternoon to protest against the order "in the name of science."

UNIFICATION OF PHONE SERVICE EFFECTED IN 1922

Columbus, O., April 7.—Unification of telephone service will be effected during 1922 at a majority of the 38 points where dual exchanges are now operated by The Ohio Bell Telephone Company, according to the annual report of the company. The report covers operations for the period from September 21, 1921 to December 31, 1921, the time during which the company has been in existence.

In some of the larger cities, the report states, it will require more than two years to unify service, as the manufacture and installation of additional equipment required will take at least 18 months.

At the end of the year the company was operating 243 central offices, 475,215 telephone stations, 18,283 miles of pole line and 1,420,394 miles of wire, and connected with 353,835 telephone stations owned and operated by 469 connecting companies in its territory. The company was handling an average of 2,198,085 local and 23,688 toll messages daily and had 9,962 employees at the end of the year.

URGES THAT OHIO FARMERS GUARD AGAINST DISEASE

"Virulent epidemics of food and disease have raged in Europe, since the War, but have not reached this country. There are, however, a number of ways in which the scourge might be brought in. Ohioans should know where the danger lies, and guard against it."

B. H. Edgington, State Veterinarian, who makes this statement, has asked the cooperation of the State agricultural extension service in making plain the points of danger. Also he asks the cooperation of every citizen in reporting outbreaks of any cattle diseases at all suspicious.

"The points of danger are the points of contact with European countries," Dr. Edgington states. "It seems possible to carry the virus, for instance, in the hay or the straw used to pack imported crockery."

"Emigrant farmers or farm-hands may harbor the infection on their garments and personal equipment. Stock which is being cared for by immigrants recently arrived in a community should be watched carefully. Representatives from the State Veterinarian's office will be sent immediately to investigate any animal troubles which in the least resemble the disease."

Dr. Edgington has reports from Washington which show that the foot and mouth disease appeared in 1906 herds in Great Britain between January 1 and March 5, and required the slaughter of 43,735 animals.

SUE RAIL COMPANY FOR BUS ACCIDENT

Painesville, April 7.—Damages amounting to $80,000 are asked in two suits filed against the New York Central Railroad Co. in common pleas court here yesterday as the result of the crossing incident which resulted in 16 deaths when one of the defendant's trains crashed into a motor bus here on the night of March 3. The suits were filed by relatives of two of the victims.

G. F. Setters asks $50,000 for the death of W. J. Setters, of Chardon, his brother. Damages of $30,000 are asked by Sylvester E. O'Leary for the loss of his brother, Raymond J. O'Leary.

Both petitions make identical charges. In effect they are that the defendant neglected to have proper headlight on the engine of the train; failed to have gates, bells or other signals at the crossing; that the crossing watchman did not give the proper warning of the approach of the train and that the engineer failed to sound the whistle.

It is expected that more suits will follow in the near future.

FOUR DANCING FEET

BY JANE PHELPS

JOY AND SORROW INTERMINABLE CHAPTER 12.

Dusk had fallen when he left her at her door. Now the Sabbath quiet had fallen on the street, and they parted unobserved. He had told her he could not see her that evening, that he would have liked to, but Mr. Walton, the young man who had been with him that first night, had arranged his evening for him.

If Gertrude wondered what kind of an evening, she said nothing, but thanked him quite prettily for her nice ride. Then she flew up stairs to tell the family all about her afternoon—that is all she could tell. Some of it she couldn't talk of to anyone.

She found them at supper, but she couldn't eat. Although she relished an orange from the basket of fruit that graced the table that Tim had hid for her. She described her ride; the inn; her dinner.

"No wonder you can't eat! Gosh, but it must have been good!" he remarked, peeking around the basket.

"Did you have ice cream too?" Little Anne asked, as she munched a big red banana.

"Yes, I had ice cream too—chocolate," Gertrude told her with a smile. Tom had laughed at her for loving ice cream. Called her a really girly-girl.

By the time supper was cleared away she had to go. She would have to tell Lilly all about it. And she begged a big orange to take to her.

"Why they are yours as much as ours," Anne said in surprise.

"Oh, no they ain't—isn't—Anne," Gertrude said, but she didn't sound right either, but Gertrude let it go. "He gave me my ride, and my nice time, and he gave the rest of you the fruit."

"Don't forget my knife!" Tim said, proudly exhibiting it.

"It's swell, I mean nice, Tom," Gertrude had not noticed when Tom gave it to him. She was too busy watching that everything went right.

Lilly was impressed! "He looks like he meant business! Gee, but this orange is swell!" Gertrude started to correct her, then stopped. It had been her lesson, not Lilly's.

That night she did not linger after she was through dancing, but dragged the unwilling Lilly home at once.

"I'm tired and sleepy," was all the excuse she made when Lilly grumbled. And when on their way out two flashily dressed young men tried to stop them, she told them the same. She had to be careful; it wouldn't do to offend any of the patrons. She had learned that.

It was not until the second day after that, that she again saw Tom Norris. Then he sent her a note asking her to meet him for luncheon at a little restaurant on Forty-ninth Street. There was another hurried hour, in which her mother and Anne participated. Then she went to meet him. She easily found the place, and her eyes lighted when she saw the roadster standing by the curb. Tom was just inside the door waiting.

"I stayed here so I could be sure to find you, rather you find me," he told her then led the way to the table.

She noticed he had a large package. "It's the books," he said as his eyes followed her glance. We'll talk about them after a while. He ordered a light luncheon, consulting her as to her taste as he did so, then when the waiter had served them he told her:

"There are a couple of good easy English books, a dictionary for you to look up the words you don't understand, or can't pronounce. Then the others are just books to read. I looked them over and marked some of the passages I thought would hold as well as interest you. Now we will not talk about them any more, but eat our luncheon, then go to a matinee or the museum, or do whatever you wish.

"What is the museum?"

"Pictures by great artists, and many other things."

"I choose the museum, and the pictures. We can talk there can't we? It ain't isn't like the theater where we have to keep still is it?"

"No, we can talk if we do not disturb anyone."

He whisked her to the museum in the car, and he spent a delightful afternoon explaining the stories of either the pictures she admired or artist. Often he could not answer her questions, and that amused her. She showed considerable judgment, always having some naive reason for her likes or her dislikes.

But all her gaiety left her when on the way home he told her he must go West the next day; that he would not be able to see her again.

"I shall write you, Gertrude. Will you answer my letters?" he asked as he left her; and she promised, trying to hide her tears.

"Home Spun" was once the finest of cloth; there was nothing better in those days. Yet who of this generation ever saw a spinning-wheel in use.

"Home Baked Bread" was once the very best; there was no other way to get bread except to bake it, then. But modern process has now effected the same opportunity to save work and energy as in the case of "Home Spun."

KLEEN-MAID BREAD is the scientific solution of the bread question—one of the greatest problems of the ages. Exact automatic processes replace guess-work; huge machines do all the labor. Try a loaf today.

Spring Comes in a Blaze of Color

by Marie Stahl

2-50-22

COLOR is the most noticeable thing about the fashions for spring. For several seasons women have gone about dressed in black from the top of their hats to the soles of their shoes. All that is now passed and we see color from the tip top of the hat to the colored and often jeweled heels of her shoes.

Nor is Color modest about announcing herself one of the chief characteristics of the spring garments. There is nothing modest about it. It arrives in a blaze and a blare, in all the brightest shades and in the most intense hues. It is the first thing one sees when looking over the spring clothes.

Navy is perhaps the most popular color for gowns and suits—though Paris has been quoted as saying that navy is not to be on her color card this yet. Yet American women love their tailored navy suits, and every American wardrobe must have at least one smart navy dress hung away for at least a filler for the unusual occasion. That time that comes occasionally into every woman's life when her first thought is: "I have no one thing to wear." Then comes the second thought: "Why there is that navy dress!" and then that grand and glorious feeling that she is all fixed with just the most appropriate gown she could possibly desire.

American designers know all about this. Some of them have had the experience themselves. Others have had the experience of several years of business, and still others have studied the American women and their national taste and the answer is the navy blue dress.

The result is that every display room shows navy dresses. There are taffetas and all the long list of crepe materials, from the heavy crepeone to the thinnest of georgettes. However none of them are all navy. Every dress has its dash of color, in some they might almost be called splashes. It may be a piping, it may be a facing, it may be a little corsage at the belt of a bunch of flat applied felt flowers that blossom on the front of the taffeta skirt just above each pocket. One little taffeta followed a fantastic idea and the skirt and part of the blouse were recklessly covered with tiny round disks of color in many colors which gave the impression of its having passed through a confetti shower.

Of course there are taffetas by the dozens everywhere. Not all of them are navy, but many are developed in brown or black, but all have their bright spots where they blaze forth in flamingo, tomato, jade orange, fuschia, or some other brilliant color spot. There is a certain crispness about taffeta that makes it a perennial that appears just as regularly as Easter comes around. This year they are made in snug fitting basque effects that have round or square neck lines, short puffy sleeves and short puffy skirts that are made more puffy by rows and festoons of narrow flutings, ruffles or ruffles which are often edged with a picot of colored silk.

More color is introduced in medallions of embroidery, in colors and in the metallic threads. Many of these embroidered designs are imported fabrics that are specially made in dress lengths, others are worked in by the designer according to her own ideas and the cut of the garment.

Soft crepe dresses continue to hang straight from the shoulder and are self girdled by subtle draping of the material and attain an uneven hem line by means of side panels. Frequently these panels are faced with contrasting color as are the sleeves.

One charming dinner dress made of the new shade Madelon blue is made over an orchid satin slip which shimmers through giving a delightful color effect. The dress is unadorned save for straight double panels at the sides and a self colored ribbon covered cord that places itself as it ties about the waist.

Coat dresses of cloth and silk are both good and promise to be quite a feature in every wardrobe for spring. Of the former one of the most striking is a chemise like slip of dark blue Poiret twill on which has been embroidered an all over design with black ribbon. The sleeves are set in but are the depth of the waist and are patterned after those of a Chinese mandarin and are faced with fuschia crepe.

One of the new silks know as Ripple Wave is used for another interesting coat dress. The long straight lines of the dress are girdled with a soft taffeta sash and the reverses fall back disclosing a vest of real lace on one side of which is a tiny boutonniere of tiny French flowers. The sleeves are three quarter length and full.

Foulards and pussy willow printed in foulard patterns are fascinating this year in color and design and will no doubt be very popular for spring. The soft silk lends itself to gracefully draped skirts, unique sleeve effects and combines nicely with plain colored materials in either silk or wool.

For so many reasons the severe neckline, boat shaped and unadorned has been found a very trying fashion for many. Those will rejoice in the fact that many of the new dresses are shown with colors and vestees of real lace embroidered batiste or organdy. Some of the dresses retain the boat shaped neck line but in the majority this is modified, cut deeper at the front, while others break entirely from it and are square in shape.

Sports Clothes seem to be out doing themselves this spring. In color, fabrics and design. Perhaps the color combination that stands out is red and white. It appears in suits, hats, and shoes. Dresses made with white blouses that stretch down into red skirts, and red skirts that reach up on white blouses are worn with capes or red. To go with such a costume are white stockings clocked in red and white oxfords that have red heels and red kid applied in perforated designs.

Yellow and white is another popular combination and probably stands second in the season's scale of color schemes for sports wear, orchid being third.

The dress and cape combination is the smartest version of the sports costume. The dresses made on simple lines trimmed with embroidery with white on color and color on white. The cape is of the color used and often carries out the same trimming design in bands of embroidery.

Sports hats are simple. They may be large or small but for trimming they have a cabochon of beads or a band of ribbon. A few are trimmed with short quills.

Another outfit appropriate for summer sports wear is the slip-over sweater and the checked or striped skirt. In some costumes the order is reversed and the upper part of the garment has all the color and pattern and the skirt is the plain color that predominates in the slip-on. In color and design many of these have gotten inspiration from the Orient as well as from some of the primitive American Indian designs and are rich in color.

Knitted dresses which have been trying for seasons to make a place for themselves in American wardrobes seem to have at last forced themselves in and are to be worn a lot this year. They are more attractive in color and design than ever before and are much better suited to the chic lines of the figure.

Many of them are shown with a knitted cape and in the silks are dressy and striking. Suits for street wear are varied in design. Some of those made in dark blues are very close fitting to the waist from which they flare and fall in ripples and points many of them trimmed with braid tassels and even silk fringes.

Of course there are more simple models which hang in straight tailored simple lines. Some of them box shaped others held close to the figure with a narrow belt of leather or material stitched. Following this style are many suits of covert cloth. The skirts of all the suits are short, straight and for the most part untrimmed.

Another version of the suit for spring is fashioned on more informal lines and looks like a sports suit. The skirt is made of flannel in a check or plaid design and the coat of jersey or flannel is plain color belted and pocketed with trimmings and collar of the material to match the skirts.

Tweeds and homespun are also combined in plain and checked material and are plain and checked material and are seen in sports costumes. Some of them are in the skirt and coat suits and others are the dresses and capes. The dresses are made to wear with blouses, or without and the capes are made so that they can be fastened to the back of the dress and worn wrapped about to figure or falling loose.

White flannel is an interesting item in the clothes for spring and is made into charming dresses trimmed with braid or material in contrasting color. Sport skirts too are made of white flannel to be worn with dark coats or sweaters.

Blouses are made of crepe de chine and georgette in all the high colors with very brilliant designs in embroidery or contrasts in colored material. They are the peplum type that hang over the skirt and the length of the sleeve varies from the length of the sleeve to wrist length.

NEW SPRING APPAREL

Everyone wants to look well at EASTER—to look well one must be dressed well.

This Store has translated Spring into terms of merchandise. The new Displays here have about them the magic new charm of a Spring Season. The smart glint of color that enlivens all fabrics, the trig Suits, with their new-hued tweeds, the capes so jaunty—the overblouse and dressy blouse which impart their quota of rejuvenation—this is just a hint of the attraction which is here in such a large measure.

APRIL always has been a busy month in the Store, but it promises to be busier than ever this year. Keen shoppers will recognize that in these April values they can meet their home and apparel needs at a profitable advantage. Special Easter displays of apparel have been arranged.

The Season for Suits is SPRING

—And the propitious time for their first appearance is Easter Sunday, especially such distinctively styled Tailleurs as these. Not only are they attractive for the day but a Suit is the most serviceable costume for a continuous season's wear. Paisley appliques, braiding and embroidery in high shades brighten Tailleurs of navy twills while the tweeds are debonair enough as to fabric without other garniture.

Tricotines and Poret Twills come in Box, Tailleur and Tuxedo Models.

$25.00

Homespun and Tweeds are of the semi-sport models—in a variety of shades of blue tan and periwinkle

$25.00

STYLISH STOUT SUITS in Serge and Tricotine

$35.00 to $59.75

Frocks of Supple Grace

VARYING as to details but with a single thought—to fashion Frocks distinctively smart has been the creed of designers for Spring. A bouffant taffeta in quaint basque style, a Canton crepe that hangs straight in long, unbroken lines and is richly embroidered.

Frocks of Taffeta, Canton Crepe and Satin, in variety of colors.

$16.75 to $19.75

Cape Dress of Wool Crepe, two-toned body color of Rosine, trimmed in Tan

$19.00

Stylish Frocks for the Stout—come in Roshanara and Canton Crepes—Navy Brown and Black, two-toned and Bead Trimmed.

$29.75 to $55.00

Blouses in Variety of Materials

You'd never suppose some of the latest of Sports Blouses have descended from the almost plebian middy—but they have. Dressier Blouses of Georgette, Crepe de Chine or fine knitted silks show Springlike color in their Paisley and peasant embroideries and motifs.

CANTON and CREPE DE CHINE overblouses, are trimmed in Embroidery, Braid, Steel Beadwork and Two-toned effects.

White Paisley Trimmed—Navy and Lark in Combination—Canna, Delft Blue, Bisque and Egyptian Red

$5.95 to $16.50

PONGEE blouses are well but simply tailored, some with Bramley and others with adjustable collars

Topping all is the New Spring Hat

by Marie Stahl

18-SU-22

Topping all fashions are the hats the best advantage.

and never has a more colorful, a more varied, a more delightful line appeared than in the spring of 1922. The hat is undoubtedly the woman's crowning glory though it may seem bromidic to say so. It is the frame in which is set the picture of her face, and should be so chosen in line and color as to off set the face to

This season there will be no difficulty in finding a becoming hat for every face and a complimentary color for every gown for never has millinery been so varied in size, shape and color.

There are large hats and small hats, hats that turn up, hats that turn down, hats that do both. The first glance is bewildering. First because there is such a brilliant display of color, then one notices that color and fabrics are used as they never have been before, that one hat carries all the shades of the spectrum beginning with yellow and running down through all the greens and blues to violet, and up again through all the reds and orange.

Of course when so many different colors are used, no one appears in its full intensity, but in the most delicate hues. Sometimes the brim consists of many layers of georgette or tulle, each layer a different color, large bunch or wreath of flowers, or Again the shades are massed in a they may be worked into an embroidered facing that covers completely the turned back brim of the small hat.

Ornaments designed and manufactured abroad are coming over in large cases to trim the spring hat of Miss America. They are made of many different things and give as many different effects.

Beads still are good and with cabachons form many a fancy rosette-like ornament from which hang strands to dangle from one side of the brim or to circle the crown. These are in brilliant reds, blues, yellow as well as ivory and jet. Some are made of a composition that closely resembles mother of pearl and is known as claire du lune.

One of the newest versions of bead trimmings is a rosette and fringe of alumette beads. These are gaily colored, perhaps an inch or more in length and each is tipped with a silver bead, suggestive of the sulphur end of the match from which it takes its name.

Little three-sided wooden beads come in many colors and lend themselves as a very attractive motif in the embroidered sports hats. Strings of them pass around the crown and hang in tassels off the sides. A large hat of circle satin developed in citron so new and so smart this year. A band of embroidery adorned the top edge of the sweeping brim and color spots were introduced by means of these three-sided wood beads in citron and dull blue.

Feathers too are good. All kinds of fancy quills, natural quills glazed, quills made of ribbon, celuloide, of ostrich, of various composition materials are seen jauntily perching across the front or side of many a street or sports hat. Sometimes they are drawn through slits in the crown or brim.

Birds too are good and come in flat shapes to be applied to the crown or brim of the hat. Parrots made of feathers in realistic colors are perhaps the favorites though many fanciful ones are shown, gayly painted on perforated silks and combs that are among the smart trimmings of the season.

One smart little suit hat is shown in milan of the new Algonquin red. The individuality of the hat is really in its shape and it is simply trimmed by two flat feather parrots that are applied facing each other against the crown with their tails hanging off the brim at the sides.

The hat for street and suit wear for earliest days of spring is small or medium and while some are shown in black, navy, tete de negre and other dark colors, by far the majority are very vivid in hue.

Of larger proportions is a mushroom sailor of navy blue in a combination of straw and satin. The crown is large and flares a bit at the top in a most becoming way and a spot of color is added by two flowers that appear at the edge of the brim, two water lilies, one yellow and one white, with two large green leaves beneath them.

For the very first showing appear small suit hats made of changeable taffetas in all the high colors, particularly in the oranges, corals and fuchsia shades. The taffeta is shirred or plain over smart little toque shapes that turn from the face or cup about it and they are trimmed where the trimming will appear to the best advantage in bunches of fantastic fruit and flowers which reflect a wide range of imagination on the part of the designers.

On close examination many of them prove not to be flowers at all, but suggestions only made of frayed bits of silk and gathered into little rose like rosettes.

Like taffeta faille is also good and many of the dressy sports hats for country club wear are made of this silk and assume large sweeping lines, and are trimmed with large flower-like rosettes made of the same material as the brim.

Others depend entirely on their own lines for smartness and are trimmed with embroidery done in beads of different kinds combined with ribbonizee.

Transparent and the lighter weight straws are in favor this spring and one made in black is Napoleonic in shape and trimmed at the front with a large round cabochon rosette made of black satin ribbon with a gold edge. Through the center of it is stuck a long fancy jet pin.

Flowers on this year's hats are surpassing any that have ever been seen before. The blossoms of 1922 are not realistic. For the most part they are very imaginative, fantastic. They are made of silks, and georgettes in all kinds of shapes, colors and sizes, and gathered in bunches of every shade and hue. Many of them appear as flat as shadows fastened to the crown or brim with beads and heavy floss or ribbonizee which lends variety of color without changing the silhouette of the hat itself.

Other flowers, if they can be so called, are really just folds of ribbon, of material, of even straw, wrapped round and round to give the effect of flowers. Again petals cut from fabric are gathered about a center of frayed straw and look like flowers of a new and interesting species.

One beautiful model shown for dressy sports wear shows a brim and crown of timba braid in harmonious shades. It is faced with georgette on the under brim and at the front is a large bunch of flowers made of many pastel shades, gathered into cup shaped flower effects, the edges stitched with contrasting ribbonizee.

Tricorns are universally becoming and perennially stylish. This year they appear in new lines and are particularly smart in black and darker colors for the early spring tailor. Made of satin or of straw they are trimmed around the upturned brim with bands of embroidery.

A striking version of the tricor is made of white and black interwoven to give a checkered effect. It is trimmed at one side with a large black feather ornament.

A vivid tam of chiffon and visca braid is trimmed with a jeweled pin at the front and is smart and practical for the windy days of early spring.

One wonders how many thousand years ago it was that some amazing philosopher discovered, after years of patient research, that there was nothing new under the sun. This seems especially true of home furnishing, this "nothing new" idea—especially since our newest combinations are but rearrangements of some older period or other, or a happy joining of two or more of them.

Set rules in the selection of drapes and rugs, chairs and sofas. Is, of course quite out of the question. Beyond a sort of generalization about heavy pieces for large rooms, and lighter furniture for smaller ones, there are no real rules. And one may, quite conceivably take exception to this generalization and arrange a charming room. So it goes.

Immediately an example occurs. A small living room presented light roomy effect and a general feeling of comfort without crowding and yet analysis showed its chief piece to be a large overstuffed sofa. The usual long "davenport table" flanked it with a lamp at the exactly right place for the reader. Part of the light effect was due to its handsome Adam fireplace, with its quaint severity.

For sheer charm another living room seems especially appealing in its Georgian primness. Here, too, a large roomy effect and a general feeling of of prominence with its fringed lines on wool tapestry. One noticed immediately an adorable corner cabinet, with leaded panes and painted ovals in black and gold. A Venetian tip-top table held another corner, white light chairs and a firescreen completed this cozy room.

Another room that especially lends itself to the colorful and unusual, is the sun parlor or the breakfast room. Wicker and painted wood seats constitute favorites. A wide-flung, glassed-in porch rejoiced in canary yellow and black wicker. The black was repeated in patent leather cushions—fitted into the seats, as well as loose round ones. Gay cretonne hung at the windows on wooden rings on heavy poles, patterned largely with yellow coral and black. Candy-striped shades added their note, while here and there were scattered huge blue vases of pottery. A swing, resembling a mattress (that it, it had no back) hung on long chains from the ceiling. And of course there were canary birds and aquariums and graphophones and such things to give that little touch of life.

In the breakfast room of great individuality one noticed immediately the interesting hangings, combining plain green linen with a large checker-board pattern in cretonne. These hung over grim glass curtains. The refectory table and its matching chairs were painted in a soft taupe shade. Little insets of cane in the back distinguished the chairs. A handsome yellow aquarium stood on a wrought iron standard.

But color, gray and joyous, is being carried throughout the house, outstripping and replacing old ideals about sombre hues for certain rooms. A particularly sunny effect was obtained in a bedroom by a judicious use of coral taffeta. The furniture was painted in gray, a warm gray—and its twin beds ruffled in changeable green taffeta spreads. Lamps were almost profuse—a night lamp set between the beds on a little table, a standing lamp with coral shade lovingly overhung the chaise longue. While a pair of cunning little fellows lighted the mirror. This mirror was pleasantly hung over a long narrow table all owing an abundance of room for one's comb and brush and powder dish. Coral again appeared in flounced taffeta hangings at the windows.

Another bedroom in painted wood, had taffeta lambrequins over chintz curtains while taffeta spread the beds. An interesting note was the use of two small painted mirrors on standards on the dressing table. Still another room rejoiced in a colonial effect, with a perfectly majestic old high-boy in one corner. Gray linen outlined in lavender, made spreads for the twin beds of mahogany, with their low posts with pineapple heads. Quaintly stiff wool flowers decorated the spreads.

A particularly appropriate man's room had an unusual treatment given its paneled walnut furniture. Red velvet upholstered the cushion seats of the chairs and not content there, it must needs spread the bed as well. Where it would afford much comfort, a lamp stood, at just the right angle for the writer at the desk. Above the dresser hung an unframed mirror. Heavy linen curtains, hand-blocked, hung on poles at the windows.

In a very interesting dining-room, a wall treatment suggested paneled wood, but when one came to examine it it had been worked out with painted canvas. The furniture—chairs, and matching table were of walnut with a stained line for decoration. Chair seats were of blue denim, all set about an oblong table, on a very good Oriental rug. A silver chest stood at one side with a stunning old flower painting hanging above it in an oval frame. Hand blocked linen curtains completed the room.

Another dining room rejoiced in tapestry backed chairs of walnut. Primly they stood about the oblong table. A high chest for china had its place just about opposite a low chest for silver. The radiators in this room were cleverly concealed under built in seats. At one end stood a wide dignified buffet, with an equally wide mirror hanging above it.

And then, of course, these days, there is the child's room, with its very own furniture and its special style of treatment. Painted wood is very popular. One set was attractive in pink with a white line for decoration. A blue and white checked bedspread held its quaint place and accorded with the equally pretty gingham curtain of the same check. One can imagine a child running into that room with glee and making a triumphant dash for the cunning pink tea cart it boasted.

There is a period in a child's development known to mothers as the tea-party age. A cookie or two, a little hot water in a microscopic tea pot and the child is all set to invite all her friends, or all her dolls to a tea-party. This room provided her with a pink tea table and four cunning chairs. For this purpose, so that even the teddy-bear needn't be left out.

Of course, it takes time and study to go the exact effects one desires in a home, but what could be more satisfactory, or more of a reward for one's efforts, than a tastefully furnished house, each room expressing some phase of the owner's habits and temperament? As surely a bit of music expresses the composer's idea, so surely does the home express the life and tastes of the householder.

This spring you have almost unlimited opportunity to express your individual and original ideas in your foot wear. Never have there been such fascinating novelties such captivating pieces of femininity! The shops are showing the simple and elaborate, the naive and sophisticated and the result is that more and more the fashionable woman is expressing her personality, her charm in her footwear as well as in the costume she wears. No one style is decidedly the thing. The toes of one's shoes may be broad, slightly rounded or pointed.

More in vogue than anything else perhaps is the patent leather shoe, either pump or low heeled oxford. The pumps with extremely low heels are much worn and have but one strap while those with Spanish heels almost always boast of three. Very smart indeed is a pair of patent leather sandals with Spanish heels, stitched in brown. A cunning little rhinestone buckle catches the two straps over the instep. Another pair of slippers also fashioned of patent leather and kid are very unique. Lattice work of the patent leather literally covers the foundation of cream colored kid.

As usual the shoes worn on the street by the smartest women are custom made oxfords of heavy Russian or Norwegian calf with perforations. Most of them are severely tailored with slightly rounded toes. There are some deviations however. For instance—some brown oxfords show unusual cutout patterns of tan suede. These are essentially for sports wear.

One shop features a captivating pair of sports oxfords made of red kid with distinctive strips of patent leather trimming them. Others almost as unique come in red combined with black or white. There was much exclaiming too over pair of white buck sports shoes, for they boasted of green heels with straps of green.

Sandals for afternoon wear are as much worn as ever, but are made more unusual by much applique or cutout designs. Cossack boots of white kid are selected by those who are forever seeking what is most novel and extraordinary. They have wide turned down fluffs with many perforations.

So much cannot be said about the new evening slippers—for they are the loveliest and most colorful in many seasons. The sparkle of jeweled heels is often seen on ballroom floor, and it is breathed that some heels are even studded with real stones. Almost all evening slippers are sandal style many of them sparkling metallic gold and silver brocaded effects, while others have an occasional bright metallic thread woven into a beautiful colored cloth. These are always worn to match the color of the gown. An alluringly feminine sandal, one of black satin has been embroidered in the loveliest shades of lavender and green imaginable with cut out designs on the heel showing the same shade of green.

Paris reports unabated interest in chiffon silk hose for spring and summer wear. These will be worn on the street as well as for afternoon and evening affairs. The vogue for light gray will persist throughout the season, though it is predicted that flesh color and beige will relieve the monotony. Very smart Parisian women have taken to wearing sheer Russian calf and navy colored hose with black shoes. They also still favor for street wear combinations of silk and wool with embroidered clocks. Clocks will appear on almost every kind of hose—this season—the narrow open-work clock for the sheer hose and for the sports hose clocks embroidered in contrasting colors.

Men's Shoes

As in Clothing and some of the accessories in men's apparel there is a standardization shown in the Spring and Summer display of Shoes and Oxfords this year. Simplicity will mark the new arrivals and with this change lower prices will prevail lower than they have been in several years.

Shoe prices have been among the last to show a decrease, despite the fact that leather costs have been down for the last two years. This has been due to the fact that labor costs haven't been lowered materially—at least not enough to show in the prices—and labor is the greatest item in figuring footwear costs.

Readjustment has been going on steadily for the last eighteen months until today conditions are nearer normal than they have been since 1914. And with this adjustment makers have strained every effort to cut down the high costs. By simplifying the styles they have succeeded in a large measure.

Novelties Get Vacation

The novelties of other years have been discarded almost entirely, although there will be a few freak lasts and leathers for the most daring dressers. The vari-colored tops and two-toned effects which had quite a play in other years have been shelved for the time being and unless the fad returns we will see very little of them in the next few years.

In the "freakish" class there still remains a few models of kid shoes that show black lowers with tan or dark brown uppers, but for the most part the one-toned shoes will lead the 1922 parade.

In leathers cordovan will be given a vacation, due to the fact that the non-porous condition of that once popular leather has been the cause of much foot trouble. While cordovan is among the most serviceable of leathers and keeps its shape exceptionally well it has been found wanting in other respects. The cordovan shade however, will be retained and promises to be one of the prevailing shades this Summer.

Darker Colors Favored

The lighter tan shades will not get as much prominence as heretofore, but the dark browns will. Blacks, of course, will have quite a following. Coco-brown, mahogany, russet and Havana brown also will get their share of popularity.

The gun metal finish will be the big thing in shoes, with glossier and vici kid finishes running second.

Among the best lasts the narrow English custom toe and the medium ball shaped toe will be favored by the younger generation, while the wider and more comfortable lasts will continue to be worn by older men, who prefer to sacrifice style to comfort.

Brogue and wing-tipped styles, in both Shoes and Oxfords, which were quite the rage when our soldiers returned from the war and threatened at one time to become an institution, apparently have outlived their usefulness. That doesn't mean they will be discarded entirely but it means that their popularity is on the wane. Instead there will be more footwear showing perforations or punched tips.

For early Spring spats will continue to be worn by good dressers and the colors will be similar to those of last year when tans, greys, fawns, brown and buck sold in the majority.

For extreme Summer canvas shoes and oxfords will have the call, with the Palm Beach shade coming to the front. White bucks will be good for more formal affairs.

The Wedding Table Is Set

Among the happy traditions surrounding the wedding ceremony is the breakfast with the cutting of the bride's cake for the guests. Its touch of delicate formality leaves a lasting impression of joy and promise.

Down through the ages our ceremonies have grown and what one of them is more hallowed than the wedding feast?

Individual tastes vary from time to time but a simplicity and exquisiteness in decoration and service give the greatest satisfaction to all.

So we must keep this in mind when we are choosing our silver, and linen, the crystal, the favors and the menu. If the wedding is in the afternoon, a reception follows at which our guests are served from a long table which can be covered with a plain damask or a filet cloth. It can be decorated with a crystal or silver candelabrum with unshaded white candles as a center piece and with perhaps a pair of marble figures such as cupids or dancing girls standing at either end. Small silver or glass vases of lilies of the valley can be scattered about the table.

Here we shall display all the dainties in sandwiches, ices, cakes, candies and we shall serve it all in our best Haviland china.

And each guest must have his bit of wedding cake. It is most indispensible. Frequently pieces of the cake are wrapped in small squares and handed to each one ere he departs.

The wedding breakfast following a noon ceremony calls for little more preparation and if the guests are too numerous to sit with the bridal party they may be served in smaller tables each of which is set with complete service and its center piece of flowers. Of course the main decoration of the bridal table is the wedding cake elaborately built, though it is preferable not to have it too high and thus prevent those sitting opposite one another from seeing across. It has been often recommended that the decorations be small and not build up a barrier to conviviality and joy.

The menu can start with an oyster cocktail. If a fruit punch is preferred to pledge the bride and her bridegroom, it can be served in delicate glasses of plain crystal or even with a gold encrusted band if it matches the design of the china. Here is the one occasion above all others where our Haviland, Lenox, Wedgwood and Doulton chinas can shine in all their glory.

We can serve a creamed Halibut au gratin or bouillon and sandwiches, a salad and grilled squab, hot biscuits heart shaped cakes, strawberry ice, nuts, candies, coffee and the bride's cake.

It is always interesting and helpful to have place cards and quaint favors for each guest such as a vanity case, a gold pencil, a fan, or an intricate charm for them to keep for remembrance.

The choice of decorations and menu for the wedding breakfast is probably the most difficult of the entire ceremony but few mistakes in tastes will be made, if simplicity, modesty and refinement be kept uppermost in mind. It is not to be expected that the wedding guests will pay too particular attention to the viands when their hearts and thoughts are absorbed by the higher emotion of the occasion.

MECHANICAL ASSISTANTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Of course, it depends on just how you look at it. Either you feel the servant problem has beautifully lessened, with the increasing number of mechanical helpers, or else you feel that the number of servants has increased—that they have become machines instead of human hands. Either way, unless one is a pronounced and incurable pessimist, one certainly feels that the general labors of the housewife have been lightened materially in this, our present age.

The fireless cooker was considered quite a labor saver when it first appeared, and it has won a well earned corner in the modern kitchen. Now comes an improvement on it—an electric cooker. This does away with the heating of the stoves. And better still, since it has thermostatic control, it practically amounts to having a servant, watching the cooking. Yes, that is a large word, but it means that when the heat has reached a certain temperature, it automatically turns itself off, leaving the food to cook in its own heat, as in the usual cooker. Food can be put in cold and raw, and left for any number of hours and will come out in good shape and never burned.

Another of the electric helps is a beater for eggs or mayonnaise which can be obtained with a guaranteed motor. It is an amazingly fast little worker, beating two eggs in one-half minute and a pint of cream in two minutes. It will also handle popovers and other thin batters. And, Oh yum the waffles! Here of course comes in the serviceable waffle iron and its cakes—can't you just smell the crispy crustiness of them?

That does indeed remind one of breakfast, and another little electric assistant wants to be noticed. This is an omelette that stands over a hot plate. It can be used for making biscuits or muffins, or to heat the rolls or breakfast flakes. And what's more, it uses no more current than a toaster.

Among the assistants not electrical is the steam pressure cooker. This too, is one of the fast workers, with such astounding records to its credit as cooking chicken in thirty minutes, potatoes in five, and ham in fifty minutes. It will also bake puddings and short cakes. A little portable dishwasher is another good little helper. It is round and small enough to be carried easily and operated with the water pressure from the faucet. Obliging is it not?

Along similar lines is a small clothes washer, that sets in the sink and operates from the faucet. It is useful for small delicate things, baby's clothes, and so on. It weighs but six pounds and so can easily be carried about. By adding warm water and soap chips, your clean clothes will be ready to serve in fifteen minutes.

To add to the beauty of the house and still to serve when needed, comes the console sewing machine. This is electrically operated, a drop-head affair and when it sinks to rest and its cover is folded down, the table resulting, is a fine looking piece of furniture. It has a number of advantages. It provides quite a little drawer space and when open, the cover is supported at the back by an additional leg, so that the sewing as it runs under the machine, cannot easily slide off onto the floor.

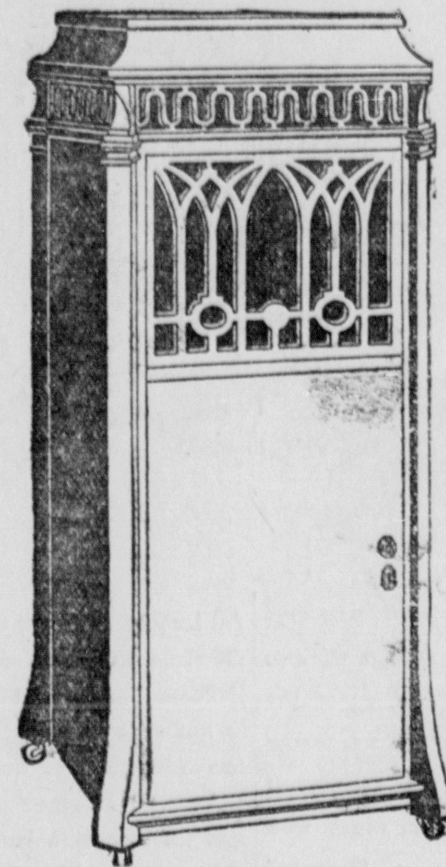

The machine when closed presents as we said, an attractive table which is unobtrusive and useful in the living room, or makes an excellent serving table in the dining room. A bowl of fruit, a pair of candle sticks, and an interesting mirror hung above—the table really presents quite a landscape.

The time when women put up with all sorts of inconveniences, and inefficient kitchens, has surely passed. The age when the architect put the sink in the darkest corner of the kitchen because it was easier to arrange the plumbing that way, has gone, too—forever, we hope. And the intelligent housewife, today demands all the labor saving assistants she can afford to buy. And she surely is entitled to them.

Standardization in Men's Spring Clothes

by Otto A. Engel

style modifications all tending to give men better ready for service Clothes. Never before in the history of the business have such Clothes approached the custom-tailored variety, so closely. And as a result more men than ever are wearing "bought" Clothes—just because the makers have removed all restrictions as to fit, etc.

Fanciful ideas of recent years are almost entirely discarded. Of course some makers' will continue to make freak models, but they are so far in the minority as to be almost negligible in their effort on present day style. There is the more conventional note in Spring Clothes—both suits and topcoats—a note that is more in harmony with the exacting tastes of good dressers.

Trend to Conservatism
As in other years young men will wear something that is not on the regular bill-of-fare, but such Clothes will be only a passing vogue. Even the "radicals" are coming down to earth and predictions are being made that in a few years the wild ideas in Clothes making will be entirely discarded.

About the only thing that will be out of the ordinary is the four-button sack or semi-fitted coat. The lapel of this model is narrower than last season and the top button is made useful instead of being an ornament. The front on this coat is soft, with very little padding, so that when the top is buttoned the coat shapes itself to the movements of the wearer.

Another extreme idea which really had its inception last Fall—but probably will be the vogue among a certain class of the dressers this spring, is the full trousers. By that we mean trousers that are shaped in equal fullness at the knees and bottom. Normally there is a three-inch discrepancy at the bottom. This style follows the English idea to a large extent.

Double-Breasted Popular
The single and double-breasted styles will continue in popularity demand, with the former dominating the field. The double-breasted styles, however, have increased with each year, because the makers have put more style into them and have discarded the idea of making a man's clothes look like a sack as in season's past.

As a rule the coats for young men will continue to show the full-chested effects, but not quite as pronounced as in others years. While the skirts of the coats will be fairly long the flare has been discarded almost altogether—at least it would not be as perceptible as in other years.

Belted styles will be in popular favor with the wearers of sport clothes. Half and three-quarters belts will win the greatest vote, while the spring pleats, much like those worn in golf suits will have the call. There are various styles to these. Such Clothes will be worn a great deal more in the Summer than in the Spring.

Patched Pockets Win Favor

Patch and plain pockets are to be favored, while the crescent-shaped pockets are taking a back seat in the call again and it will be single-breasted. They will be very little in the style parade.

The collarless vest will have the way of primings except in the sport or novelty suits.

Among the best patterns are those with stripes, but for business and general wear fancy silk worsted herringbones in gray, brown and blue mixtures will be the vogue as last year. Prominent among the newer styles are the so-called Mayflower stripes in shades of gray, oxford, blue and brown. They are made of pure worsted yarns, serviceable because of their all-year round weight.

Checks which came in several years ago with a rush will be bought by wearers of sport, models largely, but there will be such patterns shown in many of the more conservative Suits. Shepherd plaids, herringbone in blue, brown and gray stripes, Glen Urquhart, Tartan checks and overplaids will have a strong following.

Men's models are made with either full or half lining, while young men's styles are constructed with French facing and silk piping.

Flannels in Various Colors

Flannel—the always popular Summer fabric—will get its share of the honors again. They are for the most part of dark tones, blues, greens, purples, myrtles, various shades of brown and gray, olive greens and tans with pin stripes, pencil stripes and two-toned effects.

In mid-Summer fabrics Palm Beach again will rule supreme. The makers have gone the absolute limit in putting the best of style and comfort in such Clothes. In other seasons pieces of cloth sewn together in any sort of fashion was called a Suit. Today it's a different story.

Among other Summer fabrics that will be worn extensively are mohairs, homespun, lightweight flannels, tropical worsteds, crashes, rich pongs, shantung and habutai silks. Of course there are other breeze-admitting weaves under popular trade mark names but most of them are made of materials listed above.

Topcoats Follow Suit Lines

As in almost every year of the last decade styles in topcoats will follow the lines of the suits. This applies largely to the shoulders, waistline and chest. Some of the topcoats will be form-fitting, others slightly body tracing and a third group on the Chesterfield order. There are some belted coats, but not in as great a variety as in other years.

Standardization of style simplicity of modelling and a nearer approach to the lines that marked Men's Clothing of several years ago will feature the Spring and Summer displays this year.

Conditions in the Clothing industry are more settled than they have been since 1914. Factories are running at top speed wherever there are orders for merchandise and there hasn't been the hurry-worry of other years. As a result Clothes have been made much better; fabrics have improved and more attention has been paid to style.

Like hundreds of other industries the Clothing game is gradually getting back to normalcy. The last two years have been hard ones for almost every one concerned and the showing financially has been decidedly poor compared with the figures of the previous four years when good Clothes were hard to obtain.

Better Clothes Made Today
While there has been a trend to simplification, there has been some

Simpler Styles in Men's Spring Hats

Some folks say the first swallow is the earliest sign of Spring and some say when the groundhog stays out of his hole. There are many and diverse opinions, but we don't believe in any other sign than that when the young fellows first appear with their Spring Headwear.

And that introduces a very interesting subject—what kinds of Hats the manufacturers have prepared for us, whether they'll be the kinds that make us snicker when we look in the family picture album, or whether we'll be permitted to continue looking as human as possible.

Cause for Thanks
Let's burst forth in song and thanksgiving, brethren, the arbiters of our destinies (the manufacturers be it said) have really been most considerate. The best models are easy fitting blocks with medium crowns and conservative brims.

The Fedora or Alpine shapes are most shown but for the younger men dented top and three cornered creases are quite smart. Light grays and fawn with contrasting bands are the most noticeable spring shades, though of course, Oxford and shades of green and brown are always in good taste.

Straw Hats Ready

Straw Hats are ready too. The rough, white sailors are more popular than ever. The majority come with conservative black bands with bows either at the back or at the left side as preferred; but, contrary to the vogue of last year, colored bands are quite permissible. Some very good looking striped and dotted ones are observed.

Bangkoks, Panamas and Leghorns, are always in good taste and lots of men prefer them for their undeniable comfort and coolness. These of course follow the general conservative styling of the season's vogue.

Fabric Hats Favorite

A very smart and distinctly English fashion that has invaded this country for the past few years is the fabric hat. One remembers how dubiously one viewed the first of this ilk that made their appearance and how more and more have been observed year after year. From the quantities and varieties manufacturers are displaying we assume that the vogue will be definitely established this year.

Now let's not neglect the Derby, dear to every man's heart, and the family is complete. Derbies are all right—better than that—they are first rate when Fashion does not decree that they be flat as a pancake or inflated like a balloon. For Spring for instance they are satisfied to be just good looking headwear and consequently are very successfully natural looking and smart.

Prices have come down considerably—this is actually a fact, and we should be able to buy any kind of a hat even the ones from the most exclusive makers, at much less than has been possible since before the war days.

A Spring Invitation

The Spring Suits are here. We have already invited you to see them and try them on. They are beauties and the price is right. Styles that lead the way—fashions created by young men for young men.

These new models are sufficiently "different" to lift them from the mass—conservative to the degree that keeps them within the bounds of good taste.

Drift to Economy in Spring Haberdashery

by Otto A. Engel 60-50-22

BACK on the road to normalcy—that in a nutshell tells the story of Spring Haberdashery. Merchandise has been restored to a sane basis; prices, too, have struck the toboggan until today they are almost down to pre-war levels.

The Silk Shirt that cost $25 two years ago is a relic of the past and unless the unforeseen happens prices never will reach those heights again. And with the fabulously priced Shirt goes the once prohibitively priced Neckwear—the kind that once sold for $8 and $10.

Today a man wishing the choicest quality of silk shirt need not pay any more than $10 to $12, while some excellent grades will be sold around $7.50. With reduced prices prevailing the return to the silk shirt comes earlier than ever and if the early business of spring is any criterion for the next few weeks white silk shirts will be quite popular.

White Silk Shirts Favored

Of course the colored and striped silk shirts will have quite a call, but do not promise to swamp the field. In white silks the better grades will meet with favor—particularly the baby broadcloths and Jersey knits. Such silks have been found to be unusually durable, stand the gaff of rough laundry work and give almost as much service as a good madras shirt.

The broader, striped silk shirts will not be worn as much as heretofore, although there will be a certain class of dressers who will demand them. The tendency is toward the pin stripes, pencil stripes and small checks. And an air of refinement is shown in the patterns. There also is a better grade of workmanship.

With reduced demand in the last year the shirt tailors have been able to give more time to the finer things in their merchandise, such as neater machine work and better fit. At no time in the shirt business has the ready-to-wear product approached the custom tailored variety so closely as today—that is in the better grades.

Collar-Attached Shirts

Fiber silks will continue popular, but it is not believed the demand will be as great as in the past. This is due to the fact that excellent grades of madras shirts—both domestic or foreign—have replaced them.

The shirt that promises to be worn more than ever is the collar-attached shirt. This season there will be shown a greater variety than ever, with more styles of collars than in the past. The workmanship in these shirts also will be a much better grade than heretofore. And the two-button band cuff will be seen more frequently. Flannel shirts also will be worn by good dressers, particularly the kind of flannel that comes from France and England.

Neckwear prices are as low as they have been in several years—and the best news is the fact that makers have put more style and more service into them. There will be more cravats cut along the straight lines than ever before. That means the silk ties will give the wearer longer service—in fact will live almost as long as the silk knitted variety.

Stolen From the Youths

I think "Daddy" must have taken his style from the Boys this year—you know what I mean, the kinds they call Sport Suits. And say, just between you and me, he does look a bit youngish and juvenile in the kids' styles!

Silk Grenadines Liked

Among the most popular brands will be the silk grenadines cut along narrow neat lines to fit the smaller collars which have become the vogue in the last two years. Europe, as usual will furnish much material for neckwear but America will put the finishing touches to it. Switzerland, France, England and the far eastern countries will help dress the American.

Few changes will mark the hosiery this season. Good silks, with clocks and other novel designs will be worn extensively, while in the early Spring cassimeres, camel hair and imported worsted will get a big play. There will be a good selection of silk accordions and embroidered effects, but it is not believed the showing will be as extensive as in other years. The colors will be very much like last Spring but there will be more of the cordovan shades to match the oxfords of those tones.

Glove styles and colors will remain very much as they have in the past few seasons. Cape, Arabian mocha, suede, buck and chamolins in standard colors or off shades will furnish the bulk of variety for 1922

Spear or embroidered backs are about the only ornamentations that will appear. Pearl buttons are slightly favored over old time clasps.

No Changes in Pajamas

In pajamas there really is nothing new. Plain and pattern effects of madras, percales, crepes, chambrays, soisette, fiber silk and pure silk with the French neck will again be in popular demand.

Soft collars, due to the introduction of the Van Heusen type will win over a lot of starched collared gentry. But the "stiff" collar because of lowered prices will have quite a call particularly the two and three ply variety measuring about an inch and a half in height.

As for underwear, belts, jewelry, handkerchiefs and walking sticks there are few changes to be noted.
